PRESIDENT COOLIDGE was elected and is paid to act as executive, approving or vetoing laws, enforcing them, if necessary. He knows that he was not elected to make laws or change them and he acts accordingly.

HE TELLS earnest prohibition gentlemen urging him to discourage agitation for modification of the Volstead act that the public can be trusted to work out that problem for itself. In other words, he will keep out of the liquor dispute.

MEANWHILE, congressional committees are discussing and studying various "modification bills." Old brewery properties, recently as plentiful and cheap as any kind of leaves in Valhalla, are in demand, and on the political horizon a wet cloud, bigger than a man's hand, seems to say, "light wines and beer."

Whether the light combination would check the ravages of heavy bootlegging whisky or discourage bootlegging and its crime wave, time may tell.

IN NEW YORK CITY there are 11,246 practicing lawyers, almost three times as many as in Chicago. There are more lawyers than there once were saloonkeepers in the big city.

And the 11,246 will agree that the only client worth while is the big corporation that "hisses" for its faithful defenders when in trouble.

IN the long calendar of saints, only one was a lawyer. He lived in Brittany, and on his saint's day, this song is sung:

Advocatus, er non latro,
Res miranda populo.

The accuracy of that quotation is not warranted, nor its spirit approved. The marvel is that so great a majority of lawyers should be honest men, after associating with clients eager to best each other.

IRRESPONSIBLE boys, fighting for notoriety, lacking reverence, formed an "Association of Damned Souls" at the University of Rochester. They profess atheism and feel important, as silly souls often do, when half baked. The undergraduates now formally disapprove them, which was hardly necessary. A frog, seeing a locomotive and saying, "I know nothing about the engineer," may be forgiven. But only a fool frog would say, "There is no engineer, my high intellect tells me that."

THE fighting instinct expresses energy. That can be used up in fighting nature usefully, going up to new altitudes in flying machines, exploring ocean depths, climbing mountains in friendly competition among nations and in other ways.

Men unwilling to fight, or not eager to fight for a reason, would be mere white rabbits. The problem is to make them fight usefully. They will be fighters always.

AUTO BANDITS ESCAPE WITH SUITS, SHIRTS WORTH $4,000

Jimmy Rear Door of Bott Brothers' Clothing Establishment.

NO MONEY TAKEN

Plundering Discovered Sunday Morning by Manager.

Jimmying the rear door of the establishment, automobile bandits looted Bott Brothers' clothing store, Market street, East Palestine, early Sunday morning, and escaped with merchandise valued at $4,000.

One hundred men's suits, ten dozen men's silk shirts, twelve dozen pairs of silk hose and three dozen silk scarfs were in the loot which was carried away.

William Bott, manager of the store, discovered the robbery.

Safe Not Disturbed.

The robbery was one of the boldest which has been committed in this county for several months as the store is located in the heart of the East Palestine business district. After the back door had been opened, the place was completely ransacked. The vehicle, which was used to carry away the loot, was backed up to the rear door, police declare.

No effort was made to open the safe, which is reported to have contained several hundred dollars. Chief of Police Walter Warren, who was notified of the robbery, called Sheriff George Wright who will cooperate in the investigation. The authorities at noon were without a clue to the bandits.

This is the second time that the Bott store has been looted within a little more than one year. East Palestine police discovered two men in the act of attempting to open the safe in the store early last year. The men, who claimed to be residents of Newell and Chester, were arrested but the jury before whom they were tried disagreed and they were dismissed.

Bott declared today that no burglar insurance was carried upon his stock.

Five are Nabbed In Raid at Salem; Woman Fined $100

Sheriff George Wright and Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter raided the home of Minnie Ditcher, Salem, last night, arresting five persons.

The prisoners were brought to Lisbon and arraigned before Justice M. K. Zimmerman. The woman was fined $100 and costs on a charge of operating a disorderly house, while Robert Webb, Salem, charged with violating the prohibition law, was committed to jail in default of $1,000 bond. John Simpson and Joseph Hunter, Columbiana, and James Stewart, Salem, were each assessed $5 and costs on charges of disorderly conduct.

He was employed by Hart & Company, Minerva building contractors. He is survived by three children, one of whom is said to be a teacher in the Minerva schools. The body was taken to Minerva for burial.

Police Warn Pigeon Owners; Prosecutions Threatened

Destruction of Property Along Minerva, Bank and Avondale Streets and Chester Avenue is Reported.

Police today warned pigeon owners who permit birds to fly at large that charges of maintaining a nuisance will be filed against them.

This action followed receipt of complaints by Mayor Benedum and Chief of Police McDermott from property owners along Minerva, Avondale and Bank streets and Chester avenue, who said the birds had been responsible for considerable damage to homes in the district.

Police are investigating to determine the owners of the pigeons. Names of Minerva and Bank street residents were among those listed as owners in the complaint made to the authorities.

"If property is damaged by pigeons, the owners may be arrested on charges of maintaining a nuisance," said Chief McDermott. "We will investigate at once, and if a warning is ignored arrests shall be made."

PROHIBITION, TARIFF AND TEXTILE STRIKE INQUIRIES BY CONGRESS

Investigations to be inaugurated this week will reach into every activity of American Life.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—With a wary eye toward the November congressional elections, the senate this week will inaugurate three major investigations, delving deeply into American business, political and social conditions.

Prohibition, the tariff and the New Jersey textile strike will form the basis of the investigations, but their ramifications undoubtedly will reach into every activity of American life. Under the prohibition and textile inquiries, the home life and social habits of the people will be investigated. Under the tariff and strike inquiries, their business affairs will be probed. The senate judiciary committee met today to approve the prohibition inquiry. The special senate tariff committee will meet tomorrow to adopt a program of public hearings, while the manufacturers' committee will meet in a day or two to give a perfunctory approval to the investigation of the textile strike.

The latter inquiry, proposed by Sen-

AUTO WITH INTOXICATED DRIVER AT WHEEL IS POTENTIAL DEATH CAR

12 Dead, 18 Hurt, One Day Toll of Auto in Chicago

CHICAGO, March 22.—Twelve dead, 18 injured—Chicago's automobile casualties for the first day of spring.

Yesterday—officially the beginning of spring—was an ideal day. The fair weather and warm sunshine filled the highways with cars. Twelve persons were killed and nearly a score seriously injured in 11 smashups.

Sunday's casualties bring the total deaths for 1926 to 169, 44 more than were killed in the same period last year.

Marcus A. Dow, Director of Safety Council, Hits Reckless Motorist on Eve of Washington Conference.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Every automobile with an intoxicated driver at the wheel is a potential death car and every machine in the hands of a reckless driver is a deadly weapon. Marcus A. Dow, director of the Stewart-Warner Safety Council, declared today.

Dow plans to carry a nationwide fight against drunken and reckless motorists before the national conference on street and highway safety, convening here tomorrow.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover and other federal and state officials have pledged their backing to an automobile safety campaign this year in the hope of ridding the country of a menace that annually costs about 25,000 lives.

Statistics show that in 1925, 124,000 persons were arrested charged with driving automobiles while drunk. About five percent of the motorists of the country were arrested for speeding and reckless driving.

"The most amazing fact revealed in these reports is that 33 per cent of the drunken drivers arrested received no punishment, their cases being discharged or sentence suspended," Dow said.

"We found that only 21 percent arrested for intoxication were sent to jail and 46 percent fined. Of those arrested for speeding or reckless driving, only 46 percent were fined and one percent sent to jail."

Drunken and reckless drivers of automobiles are numerous enough to be a big contributing factor to the street and highway accident record, according to Dow.

Jacksonville, Fla., established a record for adequate punishment of drunken automobile drivers in 1925.

"There was just one bright spot in the course of a survey of the automobile accident situation," Dow said. "That was in Florida."

"At Jacksonville 192 persons were arrested for driving cars while intoxicated and everyone of them was punished."

The East Liverpool meeting of the La Societe promises to be one of the biggest of the year. Visitors from Salem, Wellsville, Lisbon, Leontina, Columbiana and other county towns are expected to attend. Refreshments will be served.

MAN CONFESSES HE KILLED BOY AT REQUEST OF WIFE NOW DEAD

Sandusky, Mich., Crime Solved After Woman Takes Poison.

TRIANGLE CASE

Slayer Claims he Acted After Hearing of Misconduct.

SANDUSKY, Mich., March 22.—Pearl Doring today confessed, police said, that he shot and killed Roy Lee, 15-year-old high school boy, at whose funeral Mrs. Doring killed herself.

"I killed him because my wife begged me to after she had confessed misconduct with him," Doring said, according to the police.

Young Lee was found shot to death in his automobile in front of the farm house of William Sager, wealthy bachelor, soon after a gay party broke up one night last week. A driving snow had wiped out all footprints.

Fired Through Side Curtains.

According to the story Doring is said to have told, he had taken his wife on his knee at the Sager party and was caressing her when she suddenly told him that she had been untrue and named Lee. The youth, she said, also had made advances to a young girl to whom she was deeply attached.

"Elizabeth begged me to kill him," said the confession. "She said Lee had a gun in his car and she would get it for me. She led me out into the blizzard, got into the car and gave me the gun."

"After a bit Lee came out and got into the car. I was crazy, I guess. I fired through the side curtains at him, then went back to the house."

Mrs. Doring swallowed poison while a minister was preaching Lee's funeral. She died shortly afterwards.

JOHN FULTZ APPEALS TO CIVIL SERVICE BODY IN WELLSVILLE FIGHT

Dismissed Officer Charged With "Failing, Neglecting and Refusing to Enforce Laws of State and Ordinances of City, Especially in Regard to Gambling and Liquor Traffic."

ATTORNEYS BENNETT AND O'GRADY, RETAINED BY ACCUSED, CONFER

Ousted Police Department Head Makes General Denial of Allegations Set Forth by Mayor Fogo in Calling Upon Municipal Commission to Set Date to Hear Evidence.

John H. Fultz, dismissed as chief of police Saturday by Mayor W. L. Fogo, of Wellsville, one of the five municipal executives under whom he has served during the past six years, today struck the first blow in his fight for reinstatement, when he drafted a formal demand for a hearing before the civil service commission.

A general denial of charges of "failing, neglecting and refusing to enforce, and of patrolmen under his direction failing to enforce, laws of the state and ordinances of the city, especially in regard to gambling and the liquor traffic," will be made by Fultz in his appeal to the municipal board.

The appeal, which will be mailed before night, was prepared by Attorneys Ben L. Bennett, of East Liverpool, and W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, retained by Fultz, at a conference during the afternoon in O'Grady's office.

This action means witnesses will be summoned to testify at a hearing before the Wellsville board, which is composed of Harry Hammond and A. C. Fogo, grocers, and Dwight McLean, garage manager. Fogo is a brother of the mayor.

Counsel for Fultz said today that they expected to subpoena 125 witnesses. Wellsville patrolmen will be among those called, it is understood.

In the event Fultz's dismissal is upheld by the civil service commission, the ousted chief will carry the fight to common pleas court, his counsel said.

FULTZ WILL CHARGE EXECUTIVE DID NOT COOPERATE WITH HIM

Both Fogo and Defense Decline to Make Public Charges on Which Suspension is Based.

Attorney W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, will defend the ousted chief, said that Fultz's answer will allege that "Mayor Fogo has failed to cooperate with the police department since he assumed office."

Both the defense and Fogo today declined to make public the specific charges against Fultz. However, it is understood that Fultz "failed, neglected and refused to enforce the laws of the state and ordinances of the city, especially in regard to gambling and the liquor traffic."

Revelation of the charges is certain, however, as soon as they are filed with the Wellsville civil service commission, for then they are open to public inspection.

A hot reply will be made by John H. Fultz, dismissed chief of Wellsville police department, when he answers charges of alleged laxity in law enforcement, on which his suspension is based, it was learned this afternoon. While reluctant to discuss the case, Attorney Ben L. Bennett, who, with

MAYOR FOGO DIRECTS POLICE AS OUSTED CHIEF PREPARES FOR FIGHT

No Acting Head of Department Will be Appointed Pending Disposition of Fultz Case, Executive Says.

Mayor W. L. Fogo is acting head of Wellsville police today.

Direction of the sister city's law enforcement department has been undertaken by the executive following the suspension of Chief John H. Fultz, announced Saturday.

Declining to issue a formal statement relating to the case, and acting under the instructions of his legal adviser, Solicitor S. C. Lucecock, Mayor Fogo instructed patrolmen Saturday that he would direct their operations temporarily, at least. No acting chief of police has been named.

Three regular patrolmen at present are on the city payroll—Arthur Newton, H. L. Hurd and Edward Pugh, in addition to Constable A. W. Oyster, who also acts as merchants' policeman.

Charges against Fultz will be placed in the hands of the civil service commission today, according to Fogo.

After receiving charges and the appeal of the defense for a hearing, Chairman Dwight S. McLean, of the civil service commission, will call a meeting of the body and a date will be set for the hearing, according to Secretary Grattan V. Dugan.

Bellaire School Chief Speaks at Club Meet Here

J. V. Nelson, superintendent of schools at Bellaire, addressed members of the Sunday afternoon club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. His subject was "The Challenge."

"We are driving a powerful machine," said the speaker. "The challenge is whether we or not we will observe certain rules and regulations. One regulation that is necessary is that we must devote our lives to the service of humanity. Adversity for 25 years was unsuccessful until the idea of service was adopted. The highest type of service is to serve cheerfully."

Two more meetings of the club remain this season—March 28 and April 4. Membership in the club is limited to young men between the ages of 18 and 26.

RELEASE MAN IN DEATH QUIZ

Motorist Held in Holcomb Boy Case, Given Freedom.

Charles Williams, of "O" street, arrested by Wellsville police following the death Sunday, March 5, of Fred Holcomb, 9, who was struck by an automobile on the Cemetery hill road, was released by Mayor W. L. Fogo Saturday night following a hearing on charges of manslaughter.

Williams was arrested, police say, after it was discovered that he and his wife had made a trip on Sunday afternoon, March 6, to Highlandtown, and had returned down the Cemetery hill road at about the time the Holcomb lad was killed.

However, he denied any knowledge of hitting the boy, or even seeing the youth on the road.

Owing to the fact that there was no first hand evidence in the case, according to Mayor Fogo, Williams was released.

Funds from the movie will be used in defraying Luckino's hospital expenses. Luckino is recovering rapidly.

EASTERN TEAMS ON A. B. C. ALLEYS

Seven Squads Break In to 2,800 Class Over Week-end.

TOLEDO, O., March 22.—This will be all-american night at the American Bowling Congress tournament. With the exception of one team, the St. Paul of the Cross, Chicago, every quintet to roll in the five-man event on both squads is from an eastern city.

There are 25 teams from Buffalo 13 from Pittsburgh, four from Brad dock, two from Uniontown, five from Syracuse, three from Philadelphia and one each from Tonawanda, New Kensington and Tarentum.

Most prominent of the individuals to appear is Harry Myers, of Pittsburgh, holder of the international tournament singles record, a score of 749, which he registered at Chicago two years ago.

Last night's rolling, while it saw no leaders displaced in the team event was prolific of more 2,800 class totals than any night of the tournament thus far. Seven teams crashed into the 2,800 class.

NURMI TO RUN AGAIN IN U. S.

Finn Record Maker to Appear in Philadelphia in July.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Paavo Nurmi, the man with the wooden face and rubber insteps, will be back in America within a matter of three months, exchanging pleasantries with promoters and making an absolute fool of time.

According to unqualified information coming to the writer today, the great Finn has accepted an invitation from the sesqui-centennial authorities at Philadelphia to take part in the championships in July and probably will appear in the one and five-mile runs.

But Paavo merely will be exhibit A. at that. The committee, it seems, has done itself proud and, appropriating funds on a lavish scale, is in a position to assure the appearance of the 12 greatest foreign athletes now before the public.

One of them is to be Charles Rose, the sensational Australian miler, who recently turned at natty 4:13 at the distance and has beaten Lloyd Hahn, the American, in five straight races.

Among the other ten celebrities will be Ervin Wide, of Sweden, another 4:13 miler; Lewdson, the French high jumper; Paul Martin, of Switzerland, perhaps the greatest half-miler in the world today; Douglas Lowe, of England, Olympic 800-metre champion, and, of course, Charley Hoff, of Norway, and Paulsen, of Holland, who are in America and expect to so remain.

leaders with 2,876. Weltsche Decorators, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, ranked second, with 2,870, and Cleveland Collingwood Shale Bricks, third, with 2,864.

Carbon Engineering, of Milwaukee, shot 2,862; Illinois Bell Telephone Repeaters, Chicago, 2,840; Kentucky Colonels, of Newport, 2,833, and Renard A. C., Chicago, 2,809.

Numerous other teams hit into the money with good, bad and indifferent games in the 2,700 class.

Singles—J. Hehor, Cleveland, 714; A. C. Albright, Chicago, 704; A. Sindelar, Chicago, 703; H. Goodell, Toledo, 695; B. Panicia, Jackson, Mich., 692.

All events—W. Matthes, Chicago, 1,942; C. Paske, Chicago, 1,892; R. Pekie, Chicago, 1,884; N. Bierlein, Detroit, 1,884; J. Kelwasser, Plymouth, Mich., 1,873.

What's The Use?

The Tacna-Arica situation drags on and grows worse. It is a year now since President Coolidge, at the request of Chile and Peru, gave his decision in their territorial dispute. The plebiscite originally contemplated, which he approved, has not been held. Both sides have made trouble. Gen. Pershing, after wearing himself out, came home. His American successor seems able to accomplish nothing. The Tacna-Arica crowds are rioting. Chileans and Peruvians are shooting each other across the border.

Uncle Sam has got to do something. He must either go through with it or get out. It looks to a lot of Americans as if he ought to get out.

Uncle seems to have made a mistake in assuming that the disputing nations wanted a fair settlement. It is evident they don't both want an honest plebiscite, at any rate. So why should Uncle sacrifice himself further in the matter?

There were presumably two reasons for undertaking this service. One was as a favor to Peru and Chile. The other was to avoid any possibility of European intervention, by the league of nations or otherwise. The dispute itself was of no concern to us.

It is no favor to insist on helping nations that don't want to be helped.

It is very unlikely that the league of nation, which distinctly recognizes "such regional understandings as the Monroe Doctrine," will butt into this controversy.

Why not back out, as gracefully as possible, with the suggestion that if the disputants cannot agree between themselves, they let other South American powers take a diplomatic hand in the game?

More Pie

Here is the latest food conspiracy against the American people. The National Pie Bakers' association has determined upon an advertising campaign to make the American people eat pie three times a day.

Not a bad conspiracy, either, if you ask the average man or boy. There might easily be a father and son movement of national scope, in harmony with this plan. Mother might object. Yet she needn't, because the professional pie bakers are perfectly willing to bake all the pies.

Fruit growers' associations are heartily in favor of the campaign.

Only doctors here and there may kick. Diet specialists will insist that pie is unwholesome, especially when eaten in quantity, and that three times a day is too often to indulge. The average American today, they will say, living a sedentary life, cannot digest all that pie as his active forefathers could.

This, however, isn't necessarily a nargument against the pie. There is another way of going about the problem. Why not start a campaign, in which the doctors could co-operate, to bring the whole nation up to a state of rugged health in which it could both relish and digest pie three times a day?

Alien Criminals

It sounded bad for the aliens when the head of the New York state prison commission reported that 23 per cent of the prison population consisted of aliens. That was just about what might have been expected, argued the native-born. Here were the native sons and daughters paying heavy taxes to support a prison population of foreign-born. It was a clear case against aliens.

It didn't seem quite so clear, however, after some statistics hound revealed the fact that one-fifth of the state population were aliens, and thus they were committing very little more than their share of crime—and possibly less than their reasonable share, when the difficulties of adjusting the alien to his new environment are considered.

There is good reason to be more strict than ever in keeping out aliens of known criminal tendencies. But there is every bit as much reason to pay more attention than is commonly paid to the native criminal problem.

Old State Loans

Eastern congressmen have been jumping onto their western colleagues for demanding money for irrigation projects. It is unfair, they have argued, for the west thus to benefit at the expense of the east.

Now the west turns the tables. Representative Simmons, of Nebraska, has introduced a resolution asking 26 eastern states to repay money lent them by the federal government long ago, on which they have never paid any interest. Away back in 1836, it appears, a government surplus of over $28,000,000 was divided among the states, with the understanding that they should return it when congress asked for it. Apparently congress has been reluctant to ask.

Such a fund, if repaid with accrued interest, would build a fine irrigation project. Or another fine national highway, joining east and west.

We have been told over and over again that "the great French people always rise to a crisis," and all we want to know is, just when they are going to make up their minds that the present political and financial situation in France is a crisis.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

England's Cotton Prospects.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—In connection with the completion of the great dam across the Blue Nile the statement has been widely published that the dam will make England independent of the United States in the production of cotton. Motion pictures of events at the formal opening of the dam, exhibited throughout the United States, have been accompanied by captions of similar tenor.

Naturally American cotton growers and exporters have been concerned, if not alarmed. The possibility of losing the biggest foreign market for cotton grown in this country is not one lightly to be regarded, and numerous inquiries have been pouring into Washington as to how much basis there is for the report. Members of congress and the departments of agriculture and commerce have alike been bombarded with requests for information on the subject.

No official survey having been made as yet, no authoritative statement is forthcoming. Government experts, however, are quite willing to discuss the matter informally, and the consensus of opinion among them is that American cotton growers have no immediate occasion for alarm over the outlook for competition with cotton grown in the new irrigated lands of the Nile region.

It has been stated that 3,000,000 acres of wonderfully fertile desert will be brought under cultivation in this new irrigation project, with a potential yield of 1,500,000 bales of cotton annually.

Whatever effect that might have upon the market for American cotton, it may be said that in and of itself it would not suffice to make England independent of this country even if all the cotton grown were of the kind England buys here. Moreover, if all the estimated acreage is to be devoted to cotton growing—which is regarded here as extremely improbable—it will be a great many years before it is all producing the maximum crop possible.

No Magic Wand Available.

England has no magic wand that can be waved over that vast tract and make it immediately productive of bumper cotton crops. Water works wonders with the desert, it is true, but there are many other factors entering into the problem. The cotton must be planted, cultivated, picked and prepared for the market, and that means that the region must be populated before it can be developed. If cotton is to be the principal or sole crop the people sent in there must know something about cotton growing, or they must be educated along that line, which is necessarily a slow process.

As a matter of fact, it is announced that only 300,000 acres, or but 10 per cent of the maximum acreage, are to be irrigated at once, and by no means all of that will be devoted to cotton. This will be in the nature of an experimental project, and it will require several years to work it out.

Then additional tracts will be brought under cultivation as the population of the region justifies the extension, and the later development may move rapidly, but it is safe to say that it will be a long time before the cotton from that region is offering serious competition to that produced in the United States.

There is no gainsaying the fact, however, that England is striving for independence in cotton. She would like to produce all of that raw material that her mills require, and to be able to thumb her nose at the growers and exporters of this country. To that end she has been experimenting in other sections of Africa, as well as in Egypt and in Australia, and has been striving to increase production in India, where the area devoted to cotton equals about two-thirds of the area planted in the United States, but the low yields per acre return a total crop only about one-third as large.

The United States on the average produces from 50 to 60 per cent of the world's cotton. Approximately 6,000,000 bales are exported annually, with England taking from one-half to two-thirds of that quantity. India, China, Egypt and Brazil are our most important competitive producers. There are no authoritative statistics of production in China, but the known commercial crop exceeds 1,000,000 bales and much more may be marketed when there is a big world demand.

We Import From Egypt.

Egyptian long staple cotton is the finest cotton grown in any important commercial quantity, and Egypt has furnished the bulk of the crop, averaging about a million and a quarter bales. The United States has been one of Egypt's best customers for this cotton, taking from 150,000 to 350,000 bales annually. This country has also been experimenting in growing Egyptian long staple, and has been fairly successful in the irrigated desert lands of Arizona.

Upland long staple, grown chiefly in the United States, in the delta lands of Mississippi, in the Pecos and Red river valleys of Texas, in Oklahoma, Arkansas, California and South Carolina, ranks next to the Egyptian in quality an competes with for some purposes. The crop averages about a million and a half bales.

More of it might be grown, but the market situation for long staple cotton is rather a peculiar one. Manufacturers would use more of it if they could be assured of a steady supply at a price that would enable them to compete with short staple products, and they can afford to pay more for it than for short staple because of economies in manufacture. Growers, on the other hand, say that they would produce more long staple were it not that every time there is an appreciable increase in the crop the price breaks. If price and supply could be in any degree stabilized experts say there would be a big increase in the crop and a marked improvement in the quality of cotton products.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 22.—Diary of a modern Peppy: Lay abed and watched a bird spiraling outside my window and filled with wonder at the marvels of the world and the beauty of it too, and it came to me how all astronomers are religious, which is easy to understand.

So to walk in the brave sunshine with my wife who's in a glee over learning to drive a gasoline wagon which I cannot do at all, nor could I ever drive a horse without a runaway.

In the evening to Roy Howard's to celebrate the recovery of his sister-in-law, Alice Rohe, the writer, and the Channing Pollocks, the Will Irwins and Ray Longs there, and much gay bantering. So home and to bed.

A universal dial system of telephones will not be in use until 1940 in New York, despite its rapid spread, and those who weep for the passing of the cheery "Number, please" of the telephone girl may stifle their tears. As quickly as they are released by the dial system they are transferred to the toll calls, and even then the demand exceeds the supply.

There is a type of publicity seeker known to news photographers as a "lens louse." He will pop into a group of celebrities just as cameras click, and of course, cannot be effaced. His face is familiar in news photo reels and often in society pictures, ship launchings, etc. He is as irrepressible as the famous gate crashers at theaters and prize fights. He enjoys this fleeting fame as much apparently as a hop-head does the pipe. One in New York is a middle-aged fellow of some means and the head of several important enterprises, yet he will quit his desk any time to crash the camera.

One young New Yorker used a camera-crashing exploit to end a ball room career. He managed to plop into a society picture at Newport which was widely printed. With this as a wedge, he was able to open many charge accounts and credit at a smart hotel by giving impression he moved about in boston circles. He had run up about $10,000 worth of bills when his trickery was discovered.

I happen to know this young man who has been living by nimble wits for many years. I saw him one night walk up to a ticket taker in a theatre and inquire sharply why he held the stubs in his hand. There was a confusing sort of answer and he said: "Hereafter you put them in the slot in the box" and with that he walked on into the theatre. The ticket taker thought he was one of the theatre officials.

The same young man is one of those fellows who follows up his remarks with "Do you get me?" I never have, but somebody will some day.

Men who live by their wits know the psychology of catching the victim off guard. In an uptown hotel several years ago a hapless young man knocked at the door. "In the valet," he said to the lady who answered. "Your husband told me to press all of his clothes." In the hall he left his hat and two suit cases in which he packed the clothes. He never came back.

One of the most prosperous of the dancing and supper clubs makes solemn avowal that no intoxicating liquor has ever been sold on the premises. Good music and food well served are the sole attractions.

And a society journal reports two affairs where no liquor was served, the guests remaining until after two in the morning, apparently well pleased. It may be prohibition is going to click after all.

EVE'S TWO LOVERS

EDGAR POE NORRIS

TWENTY-SEVEN.

Miss Johnstone was called to the telephone while the members of John Ingate's party were having their ices. Three pairs of eyes watched her disappear inside, and it cannot be said that any pair was more fascinated than the others. For Miss Johnstone captured women's interest as surely as men's.

Jocelyn Johnstone was the name that Gertrude Greenhiltz took when she entered the chorus of the "Stupidities of 1924." She was a saleswoman at Gimbel's New York, then, a blonde creature, faun-like, with perfect teeth and divining, mysterious smile. Not, however, until she had learned to walk (who has not noticed the superb carriage of the women in the shows put on by the producer of "Stupidities" of this year and that?) and to dress so that her every good point was emphasized and her bad ones shadowed, that she became the fascinating figure so well known in the New York night clubs until Reggie White had the bad judgment to decide upon a close friend of the commissioner of police as a blackmail prospect.

Miss Johnstone and Mr. White were laying low in Chicago now, after a season in Florida, which also had gotten too hot for them. It had not been difficult for Mr. White to ingratiate himself into the Mohawk Country club. "You'd better look out, John," Clay laughed "or you'll be on a honeymoon, too."

The host colored slightly as he smiled. He realized suddenly that his interest in Miss Johnstone must be rather apparent. He glanced at Eve. It was not difficult for him to discern the state of her feelings. She was married to Clay Wales, on her honeymoon, but she still loved him a little—a great deal perhaps. The thought gave him a sense of satisfaction. He hoped she was already a little sorry she had turned him down in favor of Clay.

Very interesting was the conversation Miss Johnstone was having inside the clubhouse, in a telephone booth. "John Ingate is the guy with the money. He's from Central City. He's a wholesale leather merchant. Dun's

No More Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, C. G. Anderson and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.

says the firm is good for $500,000. The others are home town folks, with guest privileges at the club obtained for them by Ingate. This Wales doesn't look like much to me, so Ingate is your meat," Reggie White, it can be seen, had been busy with intimate investigations.

"I see."

"We might drop down to Central City if necessary. Perhaps I could dig up a long lost relative there for you, or have your 'father' be dropping in there for business. So pave the way."

Miss Johnstone did not return to the luncheon table immediately. She spent some time in removing the traces of tennis court grime from her complexion, and slipped into a charming frock. She was glad after all that it was Ingate she would have to charm.

He interested her much more than Clay Wales. It was the small town "men of the world" who always were the easiest targets, she had learned: not the "hicks." The latter always fell in love with her, whereas the former imagined she was in love with them.

When she reappeared at the table, Eve exclaimed a protest. "That's not fair. I'm a perfect sight, and you've gone and changed!"

Miss Johnstone smiled sweetly. "But I'm so commonplace in grimy clothing, and you're so charming."

There was just a little beam of appreciation about Eve's eyes at the remark. "I think it's the other way around." She responded quickly, getting up. "You'll have to excuse me now."

Clay followed her into the clubhouse, and Miss Johnstone and John Ingate were left alone.

"Well, it looks like Mister Ingate has found a lovely little playmate," said Clay, suggestively.

Eve managed a smile. "Yes a romance under our very eyes."

"I think we'd better do a fade out. You must get a headache or something."

"Yes, I think so, too," she replied, but not without a trace of sadness.

She idled through her dressing, taken up with her thoughts. She was ashamed of herself for feeling so badly over this. She had no claim upon him now, even if, despite herself, she did love him. She tried to get the pair out of her head, but couldn't. Yesterday it was Clay that Miss Johnstone had centered her attentions upon; today it was John. She was a flirt, that was all, a woman who wanted men to pay her attentions, the kind of woman who didn't care anything about any man. John Ingate would fall in love with her and get a broken heart for his pains. So she told herself.

Back in the lobby again, she stole with Clay to a window from which they could see John Ingate apparently very deeply interested in conversation with the violet-eyed one. "We'll go out the side way and slip down to the interurban," Eve whispered, her heart beating uncertainly.

Clay didn't care whether the pair saw them leave. In fact he was in a mind to take Eve's arm and lead her, willingly or unwillingly, out by the front walk. He was exultant over this scene. Today's happenings, he thought, would banish any of Eve's old feeling for John Ingate. He was not a discerning man, and he didn't know the sort of thing that makes women indifferent, and what it is that makes them jealous and aggressive.

Does John Ingate become a victim of Miss Johnstone's wiles? What does Eve do to prevent it? See the next instalment of this story.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 83

"Purges" and "Physics" Bad for Old Folks

While Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, knew that constipation was the curse of advancing age, he did not believe that a "purge" or "physic" every little while was necessary.

To him, it seemed cruel that so many constipated old people had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to "regulate" the bowels of old folks. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but each dose helps to strengthen the bowel muscles, shortly establishing natural "regularity." It never grips, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

If past fifty, buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

HIGHWAY BIDS TO BE OPENED

Lincoln Highway Near Clinton Listed for Improvement.

Bids for the improvement of that section of the Lincoln highway between the Hebron church near Clinton, Allegheny county and Harrisville, Beaver county, will be opened by the Pennsylvania state highway department at Harrisburg, Thursday afternoon.

The unimproved section between Laughlin's corners and Clinton will be graded and surfaced this summer. Bids for part of this road were opened at Harrisburg two weeks ago and the successful bidder is expected to begin work by the middle of April.

Road grading machinery and all materials to be used in the improvement are to be hauled from the rail head at Chester, and for this reason West Virginia has been asked to postpone the improvement of its part of the road between the state line and Chester until 1927.

Normal Bowel Movements Come In Ten Days

Regular and Natural and No Artificial Aid Required for a Long Time To Come.

Millions of men and women who have habitual constipation will hail this news with delight.

Take one bottle of McCoy's Rinolin according to directions and if it does not help you to entirely rid yourself of chronic constipation, any druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

Thousands of people, most of them victims of harsh and harmful cathartics and purgatives, salts and calomel, have already taken McCoy's Rinolin with the same gratifying result—habitual constipation with them is a thing of the past and bowel movements are natural and regular.

Like McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, this efficient preparation is thoroughly reliable and a pleasant, wholesome emulsion that has won the approval of many physicians.

Sensible people will take McCoy's Rinolin to establish normal peristaltic action and keep the bowels free from poisonous waste and the blood free from toxins.

RADIO COMFORTS FOR ERIE ISLANDERS MAROONED FROM LAND BY ICE FLOES

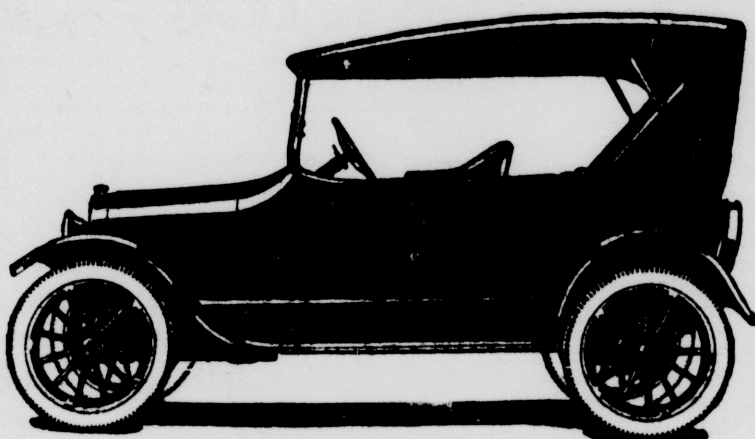

SANDUSKY — Between two and three thousand residents of the Lake Erie archipelago are confronted with isolation. The "ice bridge" that made travel between the islands and the mainland during the winter months possible has "gone out," having been broken and scattered by recent high winds. The broken, floating ice will not permit foot travel and prevents navigation.

Until the boats start running, and that may be several weeks, mail carriers must take their lives in their hands daily. Strong currents run and huge fields of broken ice threaten constantly.

In the old days when the mail man failed to arrive, the islanders were entirely cut off from the rest of the world. But today the radio keeps the islanders' period of pre-spring isolation endurable.

The islands temporarily segregated from the mainland are Put-in-Bay, Kelleys, Middle Bass, Green, and several others less settled on the American side, and Pelee on the Canadian side.

FLOOD DAMAGE MOUNTS AS OIL CITY, PA., ICE GORGE BREAKS

Big Bridge Washed Out After Street Car Passes.

RIVER RISING

No Serious Casualties Feared as People are Warned.

OIL CITY, Pa., March 22.—With the flood waters of the Allegheny river rising hourly as thousands of tons of ice frozen fast in the stream all winter broke loose, the flood toll continued to mount into thousands of dollars.

Street car service between Oil City and Franklin was suspended when the big rock bridge at Franklin was washed out just after a street car had passed over it. The second bridge to go out was the Reno span, just outside this city. It linked the city with Franklin road.

Trucks of the Pennsylvania railroad were ice-bound, but by working large crews continually railroad officials were able to continue traffic through the district.

No serious casualties were feared as the entire countryside had been warned weeks before of the impending flood when warm weather melted the ice loose from the river banks and bottom.

Industrial Plants Idle.

OIL CITY, Pa., March 22.—With every industrial plant in the city shut down by high water and bridges threatened by the huge ice floes, this city today was in the grip of the worst flood in its history.

More than 3,000 workers were idle and the postoffice, city hall, Y. M. C. A. and school house were marooned by water backing up from Oil Creek, a tributary of the Allegheny river.

Ice movements in the Allegheny river, followed by jams that backed up the water, caused the flood. Water again overflowed the lowlands today.

Rail traffic continues only over the Pennsylvania lines, service on the Erie and New York Central lines has been suspended.

In Franklin the river mark was 20.7 feet and rising. This was nearly six feet above flood level.

With two spans of the Big Rock bridge carried away by the ice and swept half a mile down stream, traction service between Oil City and Franklin is suspended.

Prohibition Inquiry

ator La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin, may prove to be the surprise of the sixty-ninth congress, owing to a provision allowing for an investigation of the charges of New Jersey mill owners that communists excited the Passaic strike. Under this authority and at the insistence of Senator Edge, Republican, of New Jersey, the investigation may go thoroughly into the subject of Communist propaganda in the United States and its influence upon American labor. Edge charged the Communists were using the Passaic strike as a mask to preach "overthrow of the American government."

At La Follette's insistence, the inquiry also would go deeply into the subject of wages and living conditions in the textile industry. As comparisons undoubtedly would have to be drawn, this phase might easily lead the investigation clear through the structure of the nation's economic life.

The tariff investigation meanwhile will be a strict party affair, between Republicans and Democrats. A significant political aspect of this investigation will be the senate's instruction to learn whether President Coolidge or any other "high government official" has attempted to influence the decisions of the U. S. tariff commission.

The "wet and dry" fight will be carried out before a judiciary subcommittee at public hearings on proposals to modify the national prohibition law. There will be no party lines in this battle, but the wets hope to lay the basis for a national campaign for modification in 1928.

U. S. Elected Member Of League Board On Disarmament

GENEVA, March 22.—The United States, Russia, Germany and Japan have been elected members of a mixed commission to consider disarmament, by the league of nations council, it was announced today.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary of the league, has addressed a letter to the soviet government notifying them of their election to the mixed commission, although there is no assurance that Russia will attend the conference which has been summoned to meet May 18.

AUTOS DAMAGED IN COLLISION

Automobiles driven by H. R. Leeper and James Kine, both of this city, crashed at the intersection of Lisbon and West Eighth streets at 7:30 o'clock last night. No one was injured. Leeper's car which was badly damaged, was removed by the McElravy wrecker.

TODAY

THIS is the day's important news, destined, possibly, to revolutionize industry, including automobile making. Gunther Polich, a young engineer of Vienna, produces a current of electricity "direct from chemicals."

He believes that his invention will do away with dynamos, and says one pound of his chemical combination will do the work of a 12-pound storage battery. It sounds like releasing the power in the atom.

If he has found locked up in chemicals the light storage battery that Edison looked for, he has something worth while.

TO RELEASE power from chemicals, or take it direct from the sun, would enrich this earth beyond men's dreams, and cut the day's work to one hour.

Just now, that might spoil the human race, not yet fit to be released from necessity's sharp lash.

THIS is certain. We are just beginning the age of electricity, as our ancestors were beginning the steam age after the battle of Waterloo. And what steam did, increasing human efficiency and wealth, will seem as nothing compared with the work that electricity will do.

If European nations would stop hating and fighting each other and concentrate on development of electric power, they could pay for their bloody and brutal war quickly—and probably be ready for another.

A BLACK prize fighter, Tiger Flowers, of Georgia, recently took the championship of his class away from Greb, a white fighter, and has gone back to the Georgia pulpit in which he occasionally preaches.

Most interesting is the black fighter's statement that while he fought the white man he repeated to himself the first verse of his favorite psalm.

"Blessed be the Lord my strength, which teacheth my hand to war, and my fingers to fight."

Mr. Greb might almost claim a "foul" on that. The rules say that a fighter must have no outside assistance except between rounds.

THE Abbe Bacile, parish priest in a small French village, has invented a machine to plant cabbages. A hoon to market gardeners, a mechanical hand plants the seedlings more perfectly than the human hand, rapidly, with perfect regularity.

Farmers will be interested in that, also in the fact that you can keep cows off railroad tracks, prevent their going through fence openings, simply by laying a few old lengths of iron pipe raised an inch or two inches above the ground across the space that you do not want the cows to pass over.

Mrs. Cow puts her foot on the round pipe, does not like it and turns back. This "cow rebuff" is used generally in California.

VICE PRESIDENT DAWES has a sense of humor back of his pipe. When he wanted to hurry the business of the senate he was told: "You must follow the senate rules."

Now he makes the senators follow their own rules, including a rule that compels them to face the speaker and pay attention to him when questioning or addressing each other. That they don't like quite so well.

OLLIE HARVEY HOME RAIDED

Assessed $100 on Liquor Charge; Two Others Fined.

Ollie Harvey, colored, was fined $100 and costs by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley this morning, when he pleaded guilty of illegally possessing intoxicating liquors.

Harvey was arrested when Captain Conley, Patrolmen Roth and McFarland raided his home in West Second street at 6:30 o'clock last evening. One hundred and twenty bottles of home brew were confiscated. Police say that they found three men in the cellar of the house bottling the liquor, while two prospective customers appeared at the residence before they left. Harvey was released over night after he deposited a cash bond of $100.

Harvey Twyford was fined $25 and costs for carrying concealed weapons. Patrolman Norman McFarland found a pair of knucklers in his pockets when he took him into custody.

Clem Dawson, who was arrested by Patrolman McFarland for breaking a bottle on the street, was fined $10 and costs.

INFANTS' BODIES FOUND IN HOUSE

CHERRY RUN, Va., March 22.—The gruesome discovery of the dead bodies of three infants in the attic of an unoccupied house, and the body of a fourth child in a rubbish pile outside the dwelling, stirred Morgan county authorities to an investigation today which they believe may lead to the uncovering of a "baby farm" and several arrests for murder.

The bodies were of infants from two weeks to two months old. They apparently had not been dead more than two weeks.

The house had not been occupied for several months. Its last occupant was John W. Rohe, a Baltimore and Ohio engineer.

DAPPER "CANDY KID" IS NEAR END OF TRAIL

Whittemore and Gang Suspected of Six Murders.

EIGHT ARRESTED

Daring Hold-ups Netted Nearly Half Million, Police Say.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Richard R. Whittemore, the dapper "Candy Kid" bandit and murder suspect, and his "night club gang" have reached the end of the trail.

Evidence against them is growing steadily and today they are suspected of not less than six murders.

Three states—New York, New Jersey and Maryland—are expected to bid for the privilege of hanging Whittemore and most of the members of his gang. This daring and ruthless organization is believed to be pretty well rounded up. Seven men and a woman, Whittemore's wife, "the Tiger Kid" are under arrest and held without bail.

The police, after grilling for hours Anthony Paladino, latest member of the "Candy Kid" gang to be arrested, announced that Paladino had confessed to participation in 24 holdups.

Paladino has been identified in four of the numerous jewel robberies in which the gang is implicated and, according to police, has admitted taking part in all of the gang's major "jobs."

The eight members of the gang were to be arraigned during the day, with the probability that they will be indicted.

The daring holdups of the gang are believed to have netted them nearly half a million dollars.

Their capture was one of the biggest police achievements in years. In New York, the gang made a specialty of big jewelry robberies and they squandered big sums of money in the gilded night clubs of Broadway.

Strong evidence linking Whittemore and his companions to the $93,000 holdup of a Buffalo, N. Y., federal bank armored car in which two guards were killed, has been found, according to the police.

In addition, Whittemore is wanted in Baltimore for murdering a guard in escaping from the Maryland penitentiary there.

Three members of Whittemore's gang were found murdered soon after the escape from jail, and members of the gang are suspected of the killings.

One body was found against the wall of Trinity Church graveyard in downtown New York. The other two were found in different parts of New Jersey.

The man whose body was found beside the graveyard was Simon Gliden, whose wife gave 69 Mott street as her address when she obtained the license for the automobile which her husband drove here from Baltimore with Whittemore after the latter's escape from jail. This car was later found abandoned and riddled with bullets.

None of two Bodies Recovered.

The two whose bodies were found in New Jersey were "Chicago Tommy" Langrella and "Spiko" Kenny, both killed soon after the Baltimore crime. Night clubs are being searched for other members of the gang. Somewhere the desperadoes are said to have a secret cache of $30,000 for a "defense fund," to be used in case of arrest.

None of the loot from numerous robberies, totaling nearly $500,000, has been recovered.

All the prisoners are under heavy guard.

Margaret Collins, the pretty young wife of the "Candy Kid," is charged with violating the Sullivan law following the discovery of loaded revolvers in baggage for which she had checks. Extradition efforts already are under way. Governor Ritchie of Maryland has forwarded extradition papers to Gov. Smith of New York, who, as yet, has taken no action.

Upset, Woman Says, By Conductor's Loud Language; Sues

CLEVELAND, Mar. 22.—Declaring she suffered mental pain and humiliation which caused a nervous condition because a Pennsylvania Railroad conductor used loud and boisterous language to her, Sadie Henkin, Youngstown, brought suit against the railroad in federal court here today.

In her petition, which seeks $10,000 damages, she alleged she bought an excursion ticket for Columbus and return January 24, and that the conductor declared the ticket invalid. She also charged she was arrested and held one hour in Columbus.

The suit was originally filed in Mahoning county common pleas court, and was transferred by the defendant.

Franc at Low Ebb; Paris Opens Fight For Stabilization

PARIS, March 22.—With the franc at low ebb, France restarted the battle for financial stabilization today.

Finance Minister Peret laid his proposed financial project before the cabinet and it was unanimously approved.

The financial project will go to the chamber of deputies this afternoon. The new attempt to balance the budget opens the way for patriotic action by wealthy Frenchmen to come to the aid of the nation, for the Peret project authorizes the government to accept all voluntary contributions for the amortization of short term debts.

DEATH CHEATS PENITENTIARY

Ray J. Udall Dies After Leaping From Train.

COLUMBUS, March 22.—Death cheated the federal penitentiary at Atlanta when Ray J. Udall, 39, died here today following a leap from the train that was bearing him back to the prison from which he was paroled.

AKRON, March 22.—Ray Udall, 22, Youngstown, who died in Columbus today, jumped from a Pennsylvania train going 60 miles an hour Sunday night to escape from a federal parole officer who was taking him from the Summit county jail to the Atlanta prison guard, was being returned to Atlanta from Akron. He originally was sentenced from Youngstown, where he was convicted of robbing a sub-postoffice station.

The train was going at high speed when Udall raised from his berth and leaped through the window. The train stopped at once and the prisoner was taken to a hospital here.

He died a short time later.

Despite the shackles he made his way to the platform, opened the door and dropped off. The train was stopped and Udall was found semi-conscious and unable to move.

TOLEDO, March 22.—John Campbell and Leonard Krause were dead today and Lon Moore and Vernon Marling, their companions, recovering from minor injuries as the result of a repair truck of Defiance division of the Toledo-Edison company overturning on the White House road, 24 miles south of Toledo, Sunday.

Campbell and Krause were drowned when the truck pinned them under four feet of water in a ditch.

The repair crew was working on the lines between Defiance and Toledo when Moore, who was driving, lost control of the truck. The back wheels slipped off the road, overturning the machine in the ditch.

MUSCLE SHOALS LEASING TOPIC AT CONFERENCE

Congressional Committee Meets With Construction Expert.

FORD MAY BID

Major General Beach Engaged as Technical Adviser.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The congressional Muscle Shoals committee entered actual negotiations for the leasing of the government's $15,000,000 project today when it met with F. T. Hepburn, a New York construction expert, to discuss the terms under which the property can be leased.

Hepburn was the first potential bidder to be heard by the committee. All other individuals or corporations interested in leasing the shoals project will be given hearings, however, before any attempt is made to finally negotiate a lease.

As the terms, under instructions from congress, must be as good or better than those contained in the original Henry Ford offer, members of the committee are hopeful that the Detroit manufacturer will renew his offer in a revised form. A general sentiment exists in congressional circles, favoring a lease of the property, and that it should be turned over to Ford if the auto king will meet the terms laid down by congress.

The committee has decided to engage Maj. Gen. Lincoln Beach, retired, former chief of army engineer, to act as its technical adviser in negotiating a lease. Beach will advise the committee on all technical matters. His knowledge of the Muscle Shoals project is extensive, as he was in charge of the construction work during the latter days of his term as chief of army engineers.

Auto Wrecked as Two Robbers Flee After Getting $50

CLEVELAND, March 22.—Police today were holding two men without charges as the result of Ralph Miller, a taxi driver, forcing an automobile to be wrecked against a telegraph pole after the occupants of the car had assaulted and robbed John P. Wilson of $50 last night.

Wilson had alighted from a street car when three men jumped from an automobile and attacked him. The robbers fled at the approach of the taxi. Miller picked up Wilson and gave chase. The bandit car was headed in an alley and upset. It bore a Michigan license.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 22.—The market was able to stage only a feeble rally, under the lead of the oil stocks, in the early trading today, following which heavy selling broke out again in the motor stocks and speculative industrials. Hudson Motor received the brunt of the bearish attack in this period and dropped from 93 to 88. General Electric was also the object of bearish selling and declined about four points.

The annual report of the Steel Corporation, showing earnings of $12.86 a share in 1925, was a recapitulation of the last four quarterly statements, and disclosed nothing new. Bethlehem's Steel report for 1925 was a favorable document, showing net earnings of $5.30 a share, against $2.56 a share in 1924. Current operations in both companies are the highest in three years. Call money rates were unchanged at 4 1/2 per cent.

Pan-American B was a strong bull leader in the oil, but the bulk of independent oil stocks were unable to follow up their opening spurt. United States Steel was firm above 124, and Baldwin above 103. Railroad stocks were inactive.

Discovery That Startled World

Age is Matter of Condition Not Years—How World's Tonic Gives Added Zest to Life.

The most amazing discovery in years was that which recently revealed 40% of our school children as lacking in vital energy. Malnutrition and vitamin deficiency, the doctors call it, which means starvation of the blood and nerves that regulate life.

Scientists contend that this explains much of the ill health among men and women of today, for (they argue) how can they resist disease who have been literally starved since childhood.

Is age really a matter of conditions, not years? Physicians and others are inclined to think so. Otherwise, why is one man or woman young at 50, is another old at 30? Why are some alive in every fiber, enjoying all good things to the full, while others, little more than half their years, are weak, anemic, nervous and moody?

So be sure you're getting the genuine World's Tonic, which has a pleasant taste, and the strength building elements that make rich, red blood, clear eyes and calm nerves.

I was amazed to find that within a few days after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills, my skin took on a new healthful look, blemishes started to disappear and I felt like a new person all around.

STARS IN CAST OF OPERETTA

"Student Prince" at Ceramic Wednesday and Thursday.

Dorothy Donnelly and Sigmund Romberg who wrote book and lyrics and the melodies, respectively of "The Student Prince" which will be at the Ceramic for a two-day engagement beginning Wednesday, declare that in this production they have done the best work of their careers. Miss Donnelly and Mr. Romberg, before the success of "The Student Prince," already had the smashing hit of "Blossom Time" to their credit.

"The Student Prince" carries a singing cast of 108 voices which includes a student male chorus of 60 young fellows and twenty lovely young women. All members of the cast and chorus were recruited from the music studios and conservatories of New York and the eastern cities and J. J. Shubert, under whose personal direction the play was produced, declares that in all his experience in show business, he never succeeded in obtaining so many and such remarkable voices as he has for "The Student Prince."

The original company of "The Student Prince" is now in its second season in New York. Local playgoers, however, need have no fears that they will see a second-rate company. The one that will be seen here comes directly from the big cities of the east and Messrs. Shubert are positive in their assurance that in every respect it is the equal of the New York company. In the cast to be seen here are such well known players and singers as Hunter Kimball, Joceta Howe, Carl Formes, Kathryn Milley, Richard Temple, Frederick Goodrow, Jessie MacDonald, Juliette Bizet, Florence Somerville, Lillian Tongue, Burton Douglas, LeRoy Duffield, George W. Williams, Richard Searle, Edith Marion, Anna Lundstrom and many others of equal note.

Reese, the Jeweler

Following five years as jeweler in East Liverpool during which his business has steadily and constantly increased to its present growing dimensions James J. Reese, who for two decades was a journeyman turner in local and other city potteries, has just moved into one of the most inviting rooms in the Little Building on the Diamond where, with a greatly augmented stock of silverware, diamonds, watches, jewelry and greeting cards he is attracting special attention to himself as an outstanding member of that coterie of forward-looking Pottery City men of commercial affairs who, sure of their qualifications as specialists in their own lines of activity, are reaching out to meet the coming demands of a newer and better day.

Starting out under most modest circumstances in a small room in the Ridinger building on Dresden avenue, in May of 1921, Mr. Reese, following the completion of eighteen months of a thorough course in the Bradley Horological Institute in Peoria, Ill., in which in turn he became adept in watch making, engraving and jewelry work he won by sheer merit, persistent attention to his patrons' wants and rare courtesy to all and sundry, attracted to himself a wide clientele which demanded for him a larger and closer meeting place with the public. Hence, his occupancy of his present attractive quarters in which his goods are displayed to remarkable advantage and those examining them can do so with a maximum of personal comfort.

The appointments of his new room stand out. They include mahogany wall cases, in which the bottom spaces are inverted upwards at the further end so as to meet the patrons' eyes naturally and a new tile floor that merges into the color scheme of the plush blue stands on which the various articles for sale are held for display.

Decorated and cut glass pieces embellish the standard jewelry, silverware and diamonds shown. In all there are on hand a full and widely assorted stock.

Though careful to maintain all and everything needful in his line of service Mr. Reese will specialize particularly in diamonds. His offerings of this beautiful stone contain and always shall only the good. In all of his largely assorted articles shown the hallmark of quality is ever apparent.

Supplementing his stock of jewelry and to which he proposes to give special attention is his fine selection of greeting cards. These are of the superior kind that can be utilized on birthdays, holidays, Mother's and Father's days, and all other occasions during which a delicate and personal reminder may be wished sent to those near and dear.

As always during his early jewelry career Mr. Reese has established his repair case in the eastern front of his new business room where he will continue to right watches and other articles of jewelry that from time to time may need attention.

Before entering the Peoria Institute for a jewelry course Mr. Reese worked for seven years as a turner at Plant No. 4 of the Homer Laughlin China Co., at Newell, W. Va. He was also for a period an employee in a similar capacity at the K. T. & K. pottery in East Liverpool. He also was employed in turn in potteries at Sebring, Barberton and Wells-ville, Ohio, and Huntington, W. Va. He served his apprenticeship in the old Chelsea plant at New Cumberland, W. Va.

Notwithstanding his capability as a potter his ambition and personal taste led him to become a jeweler. His tendency in this direction was quickly shown when during his student days at Peoria he won on one of Washington's birthdays while there the prize in an engraving competition of the words "George Washington."

On the broad platform of fidelity to his customers' interests, knowledge of and capability in any repairs demanded, rapidity of service and quality of goods maintained for sale Mr. Reese proposes to function in the wider zone of activity that is now his following his utilization of his new, attractively located quarters which to him and his past and future patrons is a move that can only be regarded as epochal to all concerned.

Garfield Girls, Central A Boys Grade School Cage Champs

Fourth Street Quint Cops Tourney Honors Second Straight Year

Defeat Smaller McKinley Lads in Final Saturday Night at High School, 44 to 12; Will Keep Tournament Trophy; Strong East End Sextet is Given Stiff Battle by Neville Lassies; Score is 16-9.

Repeating their last year grade school tournament triumph, Central A passers took down the laurels of the boys' division when they almost massacred the McKinley lads in the final Saturday night, winning by the score of 44 to 12.

The Garfield lassies won the honors in the girls' division when they sent the Neville girls down to defeat by the score of 16 to 9.

By winning Saturday night's game the Central school will keep the tournament trophy, and the names of the players that won basketball honors for two seasons will be engraved upon it.

Central A passers won the right to meet McKinley in the finals when they put Sixth Street A. out of the running, Saturday afternoon, scoring a victory by a count of 24 to 10.

Saturday night games were witnessed by one of the biggest crowds that ever saw basketball played on the high school floor. Long before Referee Reid threw up the ball to start the girls' contest the "standing room only" sign was hung out. All the loyal supporters of the teams were on hand to cheer their favorites to victory.

Girls Stage Real Contest.

Of Saturday night's games only the girls' contest resembled a real basketball battle, and there was a whole lot more interest taken in the girls' tilt than there was in the boys' battle. It was a foregone conclusion that Central A would win from McKinley in the boys' game and the only interest taken by the crowd was how badly the larger and more experienced Central A passers would defeat the smaller McKinley lads.

At 7:30 Referee Reid threw up the ball starting the girls' contest. It was the first time in city basketball history that two East End teams battled for basketball honors.

The girls' game was fast and interesting all the way, the Garfield girls have much of the edge over their Neville rivals in the earlier periods, while the Neville girls outclassed their opponents in the final periods.

Garfield led in the first quarter by the score of 5 to 3. In the second period the Garfield girls went out and practically won the old basketball battle, finding the basket for eight tallies while the best the Neville lassies could do was to score one, the score standing 13 to 4 at the end of the half.

Both teams scored the same number of points in the third period, each caging the ball for three, the count being 15 to 7 in the Garfield girls favor when the period was over. In the final quarter the Neville girls held their rivals scoreless while they added two more points to their tally, but the lead that Garfield gained in the second period was too much to overcome and the Garfield girls left the floor as basketball champions of the grade schools.

All the girls of both teams that played in Saturday night's game performed in a clever manner at their positions, Goodballet and Grumet starring in the scoring for Garfield, while Finney exacted a similar role for Neville.

Central Has Easy Sailing.

There was nothing to it but Central A in the boys' contest, the small McKinley lads offering little or no opposition to the Central school boys. The Central A bunch began to score right off the reel and the game became a procession of field goals. Central ran up 18 points in the first quarter while their opponents failed to tally, the count standing 18 to 0 at the end of the period. In the second, the McKinley lads played their best basketball and they outscored their rivals, making eight points to Central's five, the score being 23 to 8 at the end of the half.

The final periods were similar to the earlier ones, the Central lads rolling up a score of 38 to 10 at the end of the third period. In the final period the Fourth Street school passers found the basket for six more points while the McKinley lads scored two.

All the Centrals put up a good article of basketball, Hall, Dearth and Carmen doing all the scoring. Ashbaugh, Heddleston and Miller were the leading performers for McKinley.

In the semi-final Saturday afternoon between Central A and Sixth Street A the Fourth Street lads outclassed their Sixth Street rivals. The Centrals passed led in the first half, 7 to 3. In the second half they continued to outplay their opponents, adding seventeen more tallies while their rivals made seven.

Hall, Dearth and Alther were the chief Central A performers, while McConnell, Blackburn, and Galbert did the leading playing for Sixth Street.

CHRISTIANS, M. E. WIN GAMES

Decisive scores were the rule Saturday night in Sunday school league contests at the Y. M. C. A., the Christians topping the Baptists, 45 to 29, and the Methodists downing the Lutherans, 68 to 25.

The Christians played a major portion of the game with one or two mainstays missing, while a number of the Lutheran regulars were also absent. The Christians and the Methodists, however, were in rare form and played good basketball from start to finish.

Two games are scheduled for tomorrow night, Penn Avenue and Methodist Protestant fives will tangle on the M. E. court at 7 o'clock, and the United Presbyterians and Methodists will play on the M. P. floor.

How to Improve Your Golf By WALTER HAGEN

Master Player Advises Dubs, in Interview

By NORMAN E. BROWN.
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22.—"Nine holes of golf and the same amount of time spent in practice is better than 18 holes of golf for the average golfer."

This is the opinion of Walter Hagen. And it isn't stretching things a bit to suggest that Hagen ought to know something about the game. He's its greatest master.

"The average fellow who takes up golf feels that practice alone will make him a good golfer. This is true in a way. But it must be practice along the proper lines—practice involving proper form, stance, stroke, follow through and every other angle of the game. He cannot learn the game by plugging along blindly day after day in the belief that he plays enough the will acquire all of those things."

"Proper instruction at an early moment is the most vital necessity. Then comes the need for practice. The average golfer, however, wants some pleasure with his practice. He can have both if he devotes half of his playing time to play and half to really learning how to handle his clubs. Let him play nine holes. Then spend an equal amount of time with one or two of his clubs practicing various shots."

"Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the value of putting and yet the average golfer would rather practice driving. It is more thrilling. You get a kick out of seeing the ball out into the air and travel down the fairway. But most golfers are lost when they get on the green. A half hour session two or three times a week on the putting green will soon show results."

Hagen proved the value of putting in his match with Bobby Jones. The latter was having hard luck with his putts, it is true. The ball seemed to be withheld. But Hagen was dropping the ball with a deadly precision that challenged any jinx or hoodoo.

One of the prettiest putts of the match, however, was sunk by Jones. The shot was made on the last green of the morning round. Jones had missed putts on the two preceding greens when he could have won each hole by sinking his first effort.

His second shot to the eighteenth put him on the green above the hole on the slope and about 15 feet from the cup. It was a difficult lie. One had to judge the "curve" of the ball on the rolling sod.

Jones studied the shot carefully and then played it boldly. Perhaps the failure of his carefully laid putts on the preceding holes prompted the boldness. At any rate the ball went sharply down the grade, curved slightly as it neared the cup and rolled in. The gallery gave the Atlanta lad a warm ovation. Jones, meanwhile, looked rather dazed. It seemed impossible that the ball had gone in. And while Hagen visited with a few friends a moment on the green Jones tried a few more putts, feeling that he had hit his stride again.

He had. Finishing the morning round four holes down he played Hagen even on the seven holes played in the afternoon to complete the match. And his putting aided him in those last holes.

ZANESVILLE OHIO'S BEST

Defeat Akron East, 40-27, in Tournament Final.

Zanesville won the Class A scholastic basketball championship of the state Saturday night at the Coliseum, Columbus, defeating Akron East, 40 to 27.

Oberlin was victor in the Class B division, conquering Miamisburg, 32 to 13.

Zanesville easily stands out as one of the finest championship teams in recent years, if a comparison of scores means anything.

In their last three games, the eastern Ohio representatives scored 40 or more points on each occasion, their rivals falling even to come close.

East Liverpool high, clashing the then future champions in the first game of the eastern Ohio sectional tournament, held Zanesville to a 37-22 tally. That score at the time looked decisive enough, but it developed that it was not quite as bad a licking, as some of the other contenders took.

From the standpoint of point making, Dover gave the champions their hardest tilt of the tourney. In eliminating Dover to win the sectional honors, Zanesville obtained a 30 to 20 verdict.

BOWLING

Approximately 30 East Liverpool bowlers will attack the timer at the Liberty alleys this week in Fleming's annual handicap ducks tournament. Bowling will get under way tonight. Singles will be shot tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday, and the doubles on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

To be eligible for the doubles contestants will be required to post their entry fees and bowl singles before closing time Wednesday night.

WHITE IS VICTOR IN POOL MATCH

R. L. White defeated Johnny Gill, 75 to 67, in the sixth game of the pocket billiard tournament at the Diamond parlors.

Edward Remy and "Lefty" Herbert are scheduled to take the floor next in the seventh engagement on Tuesday night.

PIRATE ROOKIES GET CASH GIFTS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Paul Waner, new Pirate outfielder, was presented $2,500 by the San Francisco owners yesterday afternoon. The Oklahoma boy was sold to the Pirates last winter for approximately $65,000, and he seems to be satisfied with his personal remuneration. Hal Rhyme is said to have received a similar split.

YANKS BATTLE REDS TOMORROW

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22.—The Yankees were ready to resume intensive practice today after a day of well earned rest. Tomorrow they are to take on the Cincinnati Reds, featuring two former Yanks, Wally Pipp and Carl Mays. Miller Huggins today expressed himself as well satisfied with the development of his club.

Sultans, Omars Clash In Tournament Final

Buckeyes, Strong Favorites, and Hilltops are Turned Back in Closely Contested Semi-finals Saturday.

VICTORIOUS in semi-finals Saturday afternoon on the Y. M. C. A. court, the Sultans and Omars will battle for city junior basketball honors in the tournament final tonight at 8 o'clock. The Sultans pulled the biggest surprise of the tourney when they turned back the Buckeyes, pre-tourney favorites, by a score of 28 to 24. The Omars, eliminated the Hilltops, 27 to 24.

The Sultans practically won their game from the foul line, chalking up 10 points on free throws against four for their rivals.

The Buckeyes led by a 15-12 count at the half. The game was closely fought to the end, the Sultans winning in the final period. Bloor, P. Cooper, Nease and Crawford played leading parts in the victory. Wildblood, Felt, Skidmore and McConville were the chief performers for the losers.

The Hilltops led the Omars until the final five minutes when the Omars put on a garrison finish to win. The Hilltop passers held a 16 to 7 advantage at the half but lost some of this in the third period which closed with the count at 19-14. At the outset of the final canto, the Hilltops added three more and it looked then like a triumph. At this juncture, however, Bailey, Horwell and Penabaker began to find the basket from all angles of the floor and they finally tied up the count at 22 all. Penabaker made it 24 to 22 for the Omars with a field goal and another point was chalked up on a foul toss. Greenwood, of the Hilltops, dropped one in from the side, making the score 25-24. With only a few seconds to go, Penabaker registered the final basket.

EAST-WEST PUCK TEAMS TO CLASH

NEW YORK, March 22.—New York and Portland, known respectively as the Americans and the Rosebuds, will meet tonight in the first of a three-game hockey series at Madison Square Garden. The match will be played under eastern rules. The local team will be without the services of Red Green and Cleghorn, who are out with injuries.

HOPPE, SCHAEFER POST FORFEITS

NEW YORK, March 22.—Willie Hoppe, champion, and Jake Schaefer, challenger, were expected to post forfeits today for their match for the 18.1 balk line billiard title. The site of the match also was to be decided, with New York favored, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago are said to have entered bids also. According to present arrangements, it will begin either March 23 or the following Monday.

Miss Sweet Stars In "Supreme Moment" At the American

Blanche Sweet never requires the services of a double in scenes where she is called upon to execute difficult solo dances.

Miss Sweet learned to dance almost as soon as she learned to walk, imitating the difficult technique of the terpsichorean art under the direction of her mother, Pearl Alexander, a former stage dancer.

In "His Supreme Moment," the George Fitzmaurice production in which she is featured with Ronald Colman at the American theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday, Miss Sweet plays the role of a Broadway actress and dancer. Two of her dance numbers, an Oriental fantasy and a wild Spanish fandango, are presented on the screen in natural color by the improved Technicolor Process, by which a portion of this Goldwyn-Fitzmaurice picture was photographed.

In addition to Blanche Sweet and Ronald Colman, the cast of "His Supreme Moment" includes Jane Winton, Belle Bennett, Cyril Chadwick, Ned Sparks and Nick de Ruiz. The story is an adaptation of May Edington's new novel.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

When in doubt ask Frederic J. Haskin, the Director of The Review & Tribune Washington Information Bureau. He offers himself as a target for the questions of our readers. He agrees to furnish facts for all who ask. This is a large contract—one that has never been filled before. It would be possible only in Washington, and only to one who has spent a lifetime in locating sources of information. Haskin does not know all the things that people ask him, but he knows people who do know. Try him. State your question briefly, write plainly, and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Q. How many banks failed in 1925? What were the total liabilities? A. N. E.

A. Four hundred sixty-four banks with liabilities totaling $164,898,516 failed in 1925 in the United States.

Q. What is the largest of the Australian states? D. K. M.

A. Western Australia is the largest state, almost four times as large as Texas. Victoria is the smallest, a little larger than Idaho.

Q. With what kinds of food should eggs be served? R. T.

A. Their highly concentrated nutritive value renders it necessary to use them in combination with other foods rich in starch, such as bread and potatoes. In order that the stomach may have enough to act upon, a certain amount of bulk must be furnished.

Q. How many pounds of coal out of a ton are actually used in creating energy? R. H. G.

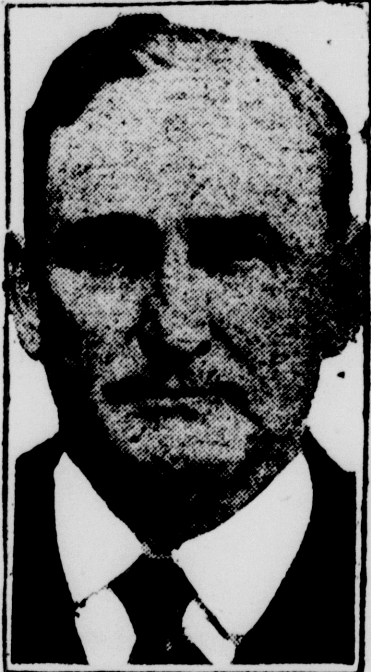

A. The Bureau of Mines says that roughly speaking about 60 per cent of coal in the vein reaches the consumer. This is burned with a furnace efficiency of about 60 per cent to produce steam. Steam is used at an efficiency of 16 per cent to produce power. Roughly 6 per cent of the energy of the coal in the vein is finally used as power.

Q. What is the birth rate in England? M. D.

Q. How much time should be allowed per pound when roasting meat? W. N.

A. Some authorities suggest allowing about 15 minutes for the meat to roast through and then the following schedule is followed: beef (well done), 15 to 18 minutes per pound, beef (rare), 12 to 15 minutes; lamb, 13 minutes; veal, 20 minutes; pork, 20 minutes; mutton, 20 minutes.

Q. What are dum-dum bullets and from what do they get their name? E. R. R.

A. They are bullets which are so made that on striking a body they expand, thus creating an ugly wound. They get their name from the town of Dum-dum, in Bengal, India, where the British government maintained troops for many years. At the Dum-dum foundry hollow-nosed dum-dum bullets were manufactured for use in East India frontier fighting, owing to the failure of the usual type of bullets to stop the rushes of fanatical tribesmen. Other forms of bullets having the character of expanding on striking have been devised from time to time.

11,246 Lawyers.
Silly Souls, Not Damned.
Men Will Fight.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE was elected, and is paid to act as executive, approving or vetoing laws, enforcing them, if necessary. He knows that he was not elected to make laws or change them and he acts accordingly.

HE TELLS earnest prohibition gentlemen urging him to discourage agitation for modification of the Volstead act that the public can be trusted to work out that problem for itself. In other words, he will keep out of the liquor dispute.

MEANWHILE, congressional committees are discussing and studying various "modification bills." Old brewery properties, recently as plentiful and cheap as any kind of leaves in Valhalla, are in demand, and on the political horizon a wet cloud, bigger than a man's hand, seems to say, "light wines and beer."

Whether the light combination would check the ravages of heavy bootleg whiskey or discourage bootlegging and its crime wave, time may tell.

IN NEW YORK CITY there are 11,246 practicing lawyers, almost three times as many as in Chicago. There are more lawyers than there once were saloonkeepers in the big city.

And the 11,246 will agree that the only client worth while is the big corporation, that "busses" for its fat but defenders when in trouble.

IN the long calendar of saints, only one was a lawyer. He lived in Britain, and on his saint's day, this song is sung:
Advocatus, et non latro,
Res miranda populo.
The accuracy of that quotation is not warranted, nor its spirit approved. The marvel is that so great a majority of lawyers should be honest men, after associating with clients eager to best each other.

IRRESPONSIBLE boys, fighting for authority, lacking reverence, formed an "Association of Damned Souls" at the University of Rochester. They profess atheism and feel important, as silly souls often do, when half baked.

The undergraduates now formally disapprove them, which was hardly necessary. A frog, seeing a locomotive and saying, "I know nothing about the engineer," may be forgiven. But only a fool frog would say, "There is no engineer, my high intellect tells me that."

THE fighting instinct expresses energy. That can be used up in fighting nature usefully, going up to new altitudes in flying machines, exploring ocean depths, climbing mountains in friendly competition among nations and in other ways.

Men unwilling to fight, or not eager to fight for a reason, would be more white rabbits. The problem is to make them fight usefully. They will be fighters always.

AUTO BANDITS ESCAPE WITH SUITS, SHIRTS WORTH $4,000

Jimmy Rear Door of Bott Brothers' Clothing Establishment.

NO MONEY TAKEN

Plundering Discovered
Sunday Morning by Manager.

Jimmying the rear door of the establishment, automobile bandits looted Bott Brothers' clothing store, Market street, East Palestine, early Sunday morning, and escaped with merchandise valued at $4,000.

One hundred men's suits, ten dozen pairs of silk hose and three dozen silk scarfs were in the loot which was carried away.

William Bott, manager of the store, discovered the robbery.

Safe Not Disturbed.

The robbery was one of the boldest which has been committed in this county for several months as the store is located in the heart of the East Palestine business district. After the back door had been opened, the place was completely ransacked. The vehicle, which was used to carry away the loot, was backed up to the rear door, police declare.

No effort was made to open the safe, which is reported to have contained several hundred dollars.

Chief of Police Walter Warren, who was notified of the robbery, called Sheriff George Wright who will cooperate in the investigation. The authorities at noon were without a clue to the bandits.

This is the second time that the Bott store has been looted within a little more than one year. East Palestine police discovered two men in the act of attempting to open the safe in the store early last year. The men, who claimed to be residents of Newell and Chester, were arrested but the jury before whom they were tried disagreed and they were dismissed.

Bott declared today that no burglar insurance was carried upon his stock.

Five are Nabbed In Raid at Salem; Woman Fined $100

Sheriff George Wright and Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kinsvatter raided the home of Minnie Dutcher, Salem, last night, arresting five persons.

The prisoners were brought to Lisbon and arraigned before Justice M. K. Zimmerman. The woman was fined $100 and costs on a charge of operating a disorderly house, while Robert Webb, Salem, charged with violating the prohibition law, was committed to jail in default of $1,000 bond.

John Simpson and Joseph Hunter, Columbiana, and James Stewart, Bolon, were each assessed $5 and costs on charges of disorderly conduct.

MINERVA MAN DIES SUDDENLY

While unloading a car load of brick at the Bayard railroad station, J. McKinley, 69, Minerva laborer, dropped dead at 9:30 o'clock this morning. Death is believed to have been caused by heart failure.

He was employed by Hart & Company, Minerva building contractors. He is survived by three children, one of whom is said to be a teacher in the Minerva schools. The body was taken to Minerva for burial.

LEWIS FUNERAL SERVICE TONIGHT

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary B. Lewis, who died at her home 828 Thompson avenue, Friday night, will be conducted at the late residence at 8 o'clock tonight, in charge of Dr. Donald W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The body will be taken to Wheeling tomorrow morning where burial will be made in Greenwood cemetery at 11 o'clock.

Police Warn Pigeon Owners; Prosecutions Threatened

Destruction of Property
Along Minerva, Bank and Avondale Streets and Chester Avenue is Reported.

Police today warned pigeon owners who permit birds to fly at large that charges of maintaining a nuisance will be filed against them.

This action followed receipt of complaints by Mayor Benedum and Chief of Police McDermott from property owners along Minerva, Avondale and Bank streets and Chester avenue, who said the birds had been responsible for considerable damage to homes in the district.

Police are investigating to determine the owners of the pigeons. Names of Minerva and Bank street residents were among those listed as owners in the complaint made to the authorities.

"If property is damaged by pigeons, the owners may be arrested on charges of maintaining a nuisance," said Chief McDermott. "We will investigate at once, and if a warning is ignored arrests shall be made."

PROHIBITION, TARIFF AND TEXTILE STRIKE INQUIRIES BY CONGRESS

Investigations to be Inaugurated This Week
Will Reach Into Every Activity of American Life.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—With a wary eye toward the November congressional elections, the senate this week will inaugurate three major investigations, delving deeply into American business, political and social conditions.

Prohibition, the tariff and the New Jersey textile strike will form the basis of the investigations, but their ramifications undoubtedly will reach into every activity of American life. Under the prohibition and textile inquiries, the home life and social habits of the people will be investigated. Under the tariff and strike inquiries, their business affairs will be probed.

The senate judiciary committee met today to approve the prohibition inquiry. The special senate tariff committee will meet tomorrow to adopt a program of public hearings, while the manufacturers' committee will meet in a day or two to give a perfunctory approval to the investigation of the textile strike.

The latter inquiry, proposed by Sen-

12 Dead, 18 Hurt,
One Day Toll of
Auto in Chicago

CHICAGO, March 22.—Twelve dead, 18 injured—Chicago's automobile casualties for the first day of spring.

Yesterday—officially the beginning of spring—was an ideal day. The fair weather and warm sunshine filled the highways with cars. Twelve persons were killed and nearly a score seriously injured in 11 smashups.

Sunday's casualties bring the total deaths for 1926 to 169, 44 more than were killed in the same period last year.

SQUIRE CALVIN IS FINED $50

Found Guilty of Driving
Auto While Intoxicated.

William Calvin, St. Clair township Justice of the peace, was fined $50 and costs by Municipal Judge Jesse C. Hanley, Saturday afternoon, when he was found guilty of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Calvin, who was arrested by Patrolman Herman Roth in St. Clair avenue, Friday evening, denied being drunk when arraigned before the judge, Saturday morning, asserting that he "was only acting like I was drunk."

Patrolman Roth, who appeared at the hearing in the afternoon, testified that Calvin was under the influence of liquor when he was taken into custody.

Calvin spent Friday night in jail.

NORTHSIDE CLUB MEET POSTPONED

Reorganization meeting of the Northside Community club, which was to have been held in the Northside fire station tomorrow evening, has been postponed until 8 o'clock Wednesday evening because of the lecture at the Orchard Grove Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. All men of the Northside are invited to attend this meeting.

CLEVELAND GIRL HANGS HERSELF

CLEVELAND, March 22.—Miss Alma Siegel, 30, was dead here today, a suicide. She hanged herself at her home when she grew despondent over a love affair, according to police.

Marcus A. Dow, Director of Safety Council, Hits Reckless Motorist on Eve of Washington Conference.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Every automobile with an intoxicated driver at the wheel is a potential death car and every machine in the hands of a reckless driver is a deadly weapon.

Marcus A. Dow, director of the Stewart-Warner Safety Council, declared today.

Dow plans to carry a nation-wide fight against drunken and reckless motorists before the national conference on street and highway safety, convening here tomorrow.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover and other federal and state officials have pledged their backing to an automobile safety campaign this year in the hope of ridding the country of a menace that annually costs about 25,000 lives.

Statistics show that in 1925, 124,000 persons were arrested charged with driving automobiles while drunk. About five percent of the motorists of the country were arrested for speeding and reckless driving.

"The most amazing fact revealed in these reports is that 23 per cent of the drunken drivers arrested received no punishment, their cases being discharged or sentence suspended," Dow said.

"We found that only 21 percent arrested for intoxication were sent to jail and 46 percent fined. Of those arrested for speeding or reckless driving, only 46 percent were fined and one percent sent to jail."

Drunken and reckless drivers of automobiles are numerous enough to be a big contributing factor to the street and highway accident record, according to Dow.

Jacksonville, Fla., established a record for adequate punishment of drunken automobile drivers in 1925.

"There was just one bright spot in the course of a survey of the automobile accident situation," Dow said. "That was in Florida."

At Jacksonville 192 persons were arrested for driving cars while intoxicated and everyone of them was punished.

MAN CONFESSES HE KILLED BOY AT REQUEST OF WIFE NOW DEAD

Sandusky, Mich., Crime
Solved After Woman
Takes Poison.

TRIANGLE CASE

Slayer Claims he Acted
After Hearing of Misconduct.

SANDUSKY, Mich., March 22.—Pearl Dorling today confessed, police said, that he shot and killed Roy Lee, 15-year-old high school boy, at whose funeral Mrs. Dorling killed herself.

"I killed him because my wife begged me to after she had confessed misconduct with him," Dorling said, according to the police.

Young Lee was found shot to death in his automobile in front of the farm house of William Sager, wealthy back-clor, soon after a gay party broke up one night last week. A driving snow had wiped out all footprints.

Fired Through Side Curtains.
According to the story Dorling is said to have told, he had taken his wife on his knee at the Sager party and was caressing her when she suddenly told him that she had been untrue and named Lee. The youth, she said, also had made advances to a young girl to whom she was deeply attached.

"Elizabeth begged me to kill him," said the confession. "She said Lee had a gun in his car and she would get it for me. She led me out into the blizzard, got into the car and gave me the gun."

"After a bit Lee came out and got into the car. I was crazy, I guess. I fired through the side curtains at him, then went back to the house."

Mrs. Dorling swallowed poison while a minister was preaching Lee's funeral. She died shortly afterwards.

JOHN FULTZ APPEALS TO CIVIL SERVICE BODY IN WELLSVILLE FIGHT

Dismissed Officer Charged With "Failing, Neglecting and Refusing to Enforce Laws of State and Ordinances of City, Especially in Regard to Gambling and Liquor Traffic."

Ousted Police Department Head Makes General Denial of Allegations Set Forth by Mayor Fogo in Calling Upon Municipal Commission to Set Date to Hear Evidence.

John H. Fultz, dismissed as chief of police Saturday by Mayor W. L. Fogo, of Wellsville, one of the five municipal executives under whom he has served during the past six years, today struck the first blow in his fight for reinstatement, when he drafted a formal demand for a hearing before the civil service commission.

A general denial of charges of "failing, neglecting and refusing to enforce, and of patrolmen under his direction failing to enforce, laws of the state and ordinances of the city, especially in regard to gambling and the liquor traffic," will be made by Fultz in his appeal to the municipal board.

The appeal, which will be mailed before night, was prepared by Attorneys Ben L. Bennett, of East Liverpool, and W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, retained by Fultz, at a conference during the afternoon in O'Grady's office.

This action means witnesses will be summoned to testify at a hearing before the Wellsville board, which is composed of Harry Hammond and A. C. Fogo, grocers, and Dwight McLean, garage manager. Fogo is a brother of the mayor.

Counsel for Fultz said today that they expected to subpoena 125 witnesses. Wellsville patrolmen will be among those called, it is understood.

In the event Fultz's dismissal is upheld by the civil service commission, the deposed chief will carry the fight to common pleas court, his counsel said.

A hot reply will be made by John H. Fultz, dismissed chief of Wellsville police department, when he answers charges of alleged laxity in law enforcement, on which his suspension is based, it was learned this afternoon.

While reluctant to discuss the case, Attorney Ben L. Bennett, who, with Executive Says.

Mayor W. L. Fogo is acting head of Wellsville police today.

Direction of the sister city's law enforcement department has been undertaken by the executive following the suspension of Chief John H. Fultz, announced Saturday.

Declining to issue a formal statement relating to the case, and acting under the instructions of his legal adviser, Solicitor S. C. Luebeck, Mayor Fogo instructed patrolmen Saturday that he would direct their operations, temporarily, at least. No acting chief of police has been named.

Three regular patrolmen at present are on the city payroll—Arthur Newton, H. L. Hurd and Edward Pugh, in addition to Constable A. W. Oyster, who also acts as merchants' policeman.

Charges against Fultz will be placed in the hands of the civil service commission today, according to Fogo.

After receiving charges and the appeal of the defense for a hearing, Chairman Dwight S. McLean, of the civil service commission, will call a meeting of the body and a date will be set for the hearing, according to Secretary Gratton V. Dugan.

RELEASE MAN IN DEATH QUIZ

Motorist Held in Holcomb Boy Case, Given Freedom.

Charles Williams, of "O" street, arrested by Wellsville police following the death Sunday, March 6, of Fred Holcomb, 9, who was struck by an automobile on the Cemetery hill road, was released by Mayor W. L. Fogo Saturday night following a hearing on charges of manslaughter.

Williams was arrested, police say, after it was discovered that he and his wife had made a trip on Sunday afternoon, March 6, to Highlandtown, and had returned down the Cemetery hill road at about the time the Holcomb lad was killed.

However, he denied any knowledge of hitting the boy, or even seeing the youth on the road.

Owing to the fact that there was no first hand evidence in the case, according to Mayor Fogo, Williams was released.

EASTERN TEAMS
ON A. B. C. ALLEYS

Seven Squads Break Into 2,800 Class Over Weekend.

TOLEDO, O., March 22.—This will be all-eastern night at the American Bowling Congress tournament. With the exception of one team, the St. Paul of the Cross, Chicago, every quintet to roll in the five-man event on both squads is from an eastern city.

There are 25 teams from Buffalo 13 from Pittsburgh, four from Brad dock, two from Uniontown, five from Syracuse, three from Philadelphia and one each from Tonawanda, New Kensington and Tarentum.

Most prominent of the individuals to appear is Harry Myers, of Pittsburgh, holder of the international tournament singles record, a score of 749, which he registered at Chicago two years ago.

Last night's rolling, while it saw no leaders displaced in the team event was prolific of more 2,800 class totals than any night of the tournament thus far. Seven teams crashed into the 2,800 class.

NURMI TO RUN
AGAIN IN U. S.

Finn Record Maker to Appear in Philadelphia in July.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Paavo Nurmi, the man with the wooden face and rubber insteps, will be back in America within a matter of three months, exchanging pleasanties with promoters and making an absolute fool of time.

According to unqualified information coming to the writer today, the great Finn has accepted an invitation from the sesqui-centennial authorities at Philadelphia to take part in the championships in July and probably will appear in the one and five-mile runs.

But Paavo merely will be exhibit A. at that. The committee, it seems, has done itself proud and, appropriating funds on a lavish scale, is in a position to assure the appearance of the 12 greatest foreign athletes now before the public.

One of them is to be Charley Rose, the sensational Australian miler, who recently turned at natty 4:13 at the distance and has beaten Lloyd Hahn, the American, in five straight races. Among the other ten celebrities will be Ervin Wide, of Sweden, another 4:13 miler; Lewden, the French high jumper; Paul Martin, of Switzerland, perhaps the greatest half-miler in the world today; Douglas Lowe, of England, Olympic 800-metre champion, and, of course, Charley Hoff, of Norway, and Paulen, of Holland, who are in America and expect to remain.

leaders with 2,876. Weinecke Decorators, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, ranked second, with 2,870, and Cleveland Collingwood Shale Bricks, third, with 2,864. Carbon Engineering, of Milwaukee, shot 2,862; Illinois Bell Telephone Repeaters, Chicago, 2,840; Kentucky Colonels, of Newport, 2,833, and Renard A. C., Chicago, 2,809.

Numerous other teams hit into the money with good, bad and indifferent games in the 2,700 class. Singles—J. Hehor, Cleveland, 714; A. C. Albright, Chicago, 704; A. Sindelar, Chicago, 703; H. Goodell, Toledo, 695; B. Panicia, Jackson, Mich., 692.

All events—W. Matthes, Chicago, 1,942; C. Paske, Chicago, 1,892; R. Pekie, Chicago, 1,884; N. Bierlein, Detroit, 1,884; J. Kelwasser, Plymouth, Mich., 1,873.

EAST END
PLANS ARRANGED

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

MONDAY, MARCH 22, 1926.

What's The Use?

The Tacna-Arica situation drags on and grows worse. It is a year now since President Coolidge, at the request of Chile and Peru, gave his decision in their territorial dispute. The plebiscite originally contemplated, which he approved, has not been held. Both sides have made trouble. Gen. Pershing, after wearing himself out, came home. His American successor seems able to accomplish nothing. The Tacna-Arica crowds are rioting. Chileans and Peruvians are shooting each other across the border.

Uncle Sam has got to do something. He must either go through with it or get out. It looks to a lot of Americans as if he ought to get out.

Uncle seems to have made a mistake in assuming that the disputing nations wanted a fair settlement. It is evident they don't both want an honest plebiscite, at any rate. So why should Uncle sacrifice himself further in the matter?

There were presumably two reasons for undertaking this service. One was as a favor to Peru and Chile. The other was to avoid any possibility of European intervention, by the league of nations or otherwise. The dispute itself was of no concern to us.

It is no favor to insist on helping nations that don't want to be helped.

It is very unlikely that the league of nation, which distinctly recognizes "such regional understandings as the Monroe Doctrine," will butt into this controversy.

Why not back out, as gracefully as possible, with the suggestion that if the disputants cannot agree between themselves, they let other South American powers take a diplomatic hand in the game?

More Pie

Here is the latest food conspiracy against the American people. The National Pie Bakers' association has determined upon an advertising campaign to make the American people eat pie three times a day.

Not a bad conspiracy, either, if you ask the average man or boy. There might easily be a father and son movement of national scope, in harmony with this plan. Mother might object. Yet she needn't, because the professional pie bakers are perfectly willing to bake all the pies.

Fruit growers' associations are heartily in favor of the campaign.

Only doctors here and there may kick. Diet specialists will insist that pie is unwholesome, especially when eaten in quantity, and that three times a day is too often to indulge. The average American today, they will say, living a sedentary life, cannot digest all that pie as his active forefathers could.

This, however, isn't necessarily a argument against the pie. There is another way of going about the problem. Why not start a campaign, in which the doctors could co-operate, to bring the whole nation up to a state of rugged health in which it could both relish and digest pie three times a day?

Alien Criminals

It sounded bad for the aliens when the head of the New York state prison commission reported that 23 per cent of the prison population consisted of aliens. That was just about what might have been expected, argued the native-born. Here were the native sons and daughters paying heavy taxes to support a prison population of foreign-born. It was a clear case against aliens.

It didn't seem quite so clear, however, after some statistics hound revealed the fact that one-fifth of the state population were aliens, and thus they were committing very little more than their share of crime—and possibly less than their reasonable share, when the difficulties of adjusting the alien to his new environment are considered.

There is good reason to be more strict than ever in keeping out aliens of known criminal tendencies. But there is every bit as much reason to pay more attention than is commonly paid to the native criminal problem.

Old State Loans

Eastern congressmen have been jumping onto their western colleagues for demanding money for irrigation projects. It is unfair, they have argued, for the west thus to benefit at the expense of the east.

Now the west turns the tables. Representative Simmons, of Nebraska, has introduced a resolution asking 26 eastern states to repay money lent them by the federal government long ago, on which they have never paid any interest. Away back in 1836, it appears, a government surplus of over $28,000,000 was divided among the states, with the understanding that they should return it when congress asked for it. Apparently congress has been reluctant to ask.

Such a fund, if repaid with accrued interest, would build a fine irrigation project. Or another fine national highway, joining east and west.

We have been told over and over again that "the great French people always rise to a crisis," and all we want to know is, just when they are going to make up their minds that the present political and financial situation in France is a crisis.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

England's Cotton Prospects.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—In connection with the completion of the great dam across the Blue Nile the statement has been widely published that the dam make possible an irrigation development that will make England independent of the United States in the production of cotton. Motion pictures of events at the formal opening of the dam, exhibited throughout the United States, have been accompanied by captions of similar tenor.

Naturally American cotton growers and exporters have been concerned, if not alarmed. The possibility of losing the biggest foreign market for cotton grown in this country is not one lightly to be regarded, and numerous inquiries have been pouring into Washington as to how much basis there is for the report. Members of congress and the departments of agriculture and commerce have alike been bombarded with requests for information on the subject.

No official survey having been made as yet, no authoritative statement is forthcoming. Government experts, however, are quite willing to discuss the matter informally, and the consensus of opinion among them is that American cotton growers have no immediate occasion for alarm over the outlook for competition with cotton grown in the new irrigated lands of the Nile region.

It has been stated that 3,000,000 acres of wonderfully fertile desert will be brought under cultivation in this new irrigation project, with a potential yield of 1,500,000 bales of cotton annually.

Whatever effect that might have upon the market for American cotton, it may be said that in and of itself it would not suffice to make England independent of this country even if all the cotton grown were of the kind England buys here. Moreover, if all the estimated acreage is to be devoted to cotton growing—which is regarded here as extremely improbable—it will be a great many years before it is all producing the maximum crop possible.

No Magic Wand Available.

England has no magic wand that can be waved over that vast tract and make it immediately productive of bumper cotton crops. Water works wonders with the desert, it is true, but there are many other factors entering into the problem. The cotton must be planted, cultivated, picked and prepared for the market, and that means that the region must be populated before it can be developed. If cotton is to be the principal or sole crop the people sent in there must know something about cotton growing, or they must be educated along that line, which is necessarily a slow process.

As a matter of fact, it is announced that only 300,000 acres, or but 10 per cent of the maximum acreage, are to be irrigated at once, and by no means all of that will be devoted to cotton. This will be in the nature of an experimental project, and it will require several years to work it out.

Then additional tracts will be brought under cultivation as the population of the region justifies the extension, and the later development may move rapidly, but it is safe to say that it will be a long time before the cotton from that region is offering serious competition to that produced in the United States.

There is no gainsaying the fact, however, that England is striving for independence in cotton. She would like to produce all of that raw material that her mills require, and to be able to thumb her nose at the growers and exporters of this country. To that end she has been experimenting in her sections of Africa, as well as in Egypt and in Australia, and has been striving to increase production in India, where the area devoted to cotton equals about two-thirds of the area planted in the United States, but the low yields per acre return a total crop only about one-third as large.

The United States on the average produces from 50 to 60 per cent of the world's cotton. Approximately 6,000,000 bales are exported annually, with England taking from one-half to two-thirds of that quantity. India, China, Egypt and Brazil are our most important competitive producers. There are no authoritative statistics of production in China, but the known commercial crop exceeds 1,000,000 bales and much more may be marketed when there is a big world demand.

We Import From Egypt.

Egyptian long staple cotton is the finest cotton grown in any important commercial quantity, and Egypt has furnished the bulk of the crop, averaging about a million and a quarter bales. The United States has been one of Egypt's best customers for this cotton, taking from 150,000 to 350,000 bales annually. This country has also been experimenting in growing Egyptian long staple, and has been fairly successful in the irrigated desert lands of Arizona.

Upland long staple, grown chiefly in the United States, in the delta lands of Mississippi, in the Pecos and Red river valleys of Texas, in Oklahoma, Arkansas, California and South Carolina, ranks next to the Egyptian in quality and competes with for some purposes. The crop averages about a million and a half bales.

More of it might be grown, but the market situation for long staple cotton is rather a peculiar one. Manufacturers would use more of it if they could be assured of a steady supply at a price that would enable them to compete with short staple products, and they can afford to pay more for it than for short staple because of economies in manufacture. Growers, on the other hand, say that they would produce more long staple were it not that every time there is an appreciable increase in the crop the price breaks. If price and supply could be in any degree stabilized experts say there would be a big increase in the crop and a marked improvement in the quality of cotton products.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 22.—Diary of a modern Pepsy: Lay abed and watched a bird spiraling outside my window and filled with wonder at the marvels of the world and the beauty of it too, and it came to me how all astronomers are religious, which is easy to understand.

So to walk in the brave sunshine with my wife who's in a glee over learning to drive a gasoline wagon which I cannot do at all, nor could I ever drive a horse without a runaway.

In the evening to Roy Howard's to celebrate the recovery of his sister-in-law, Allee Robe, the writer, and the Channing Pollocks, the Will Irwins and Ray Longs there, and much gay bantering. So home and to bed.

A universal dial system of telephones will not be in use until 1940 in New York, despite its rapid spread, and those who weep for the passing of the cheery "Number, please" of the telephone girl may stifle their tears. As quickly as they are released by the dial system they are transferred to the toll calls, and even then the demand exceeds the supply.

There is a type of publicity seeker known to news photographers as a "lens louse." He will pop into a group of celebrities just as cameras click, and of course, cannot be effaced. His face is familiar in news photo reels and often in society pictures, ship launchings, etc. He is as irrepressible as the famous gate crashers at theaters and prize fights. He enjoys this fleeting fame as much apparently as a hop-head does the pipe. One in New York is a middle-aged fellow of some means and the head of several important enterprises, yet he will quit his desk any time to crash the camera.

One young New Yorker used a camera-crashing exploit to end a ball room career. He managed to pop into a society picture at Newport which was widely printed. With this as a wedge, he was able to open many charge accounts and credit at a smart hotel by giving impression he moved about in bonton circles. He had run up about $10,000 worth of bills when his trickery was discovered.

I happen to know this young man who has been living by nimble wits for many years. I saw him one night walk up to a ticket taker in a theatre and inquire sharply why he held the stubs in his hand. There was a confusing sort of answer and he said: "Hereafter you put them in the slot in the box" and with that he walked on into the theatre. The ticket taker thought he was one of the theatre officials.

The same young man is one of those fellows who follows up his remarks with "Do you get me?" I never have, but somebody will some day.

Men who live by their wits know the psychology of catching the victim off guard. In an uptown hotel several years ago a hatless young man knocked at the door. "I'm the valet," he said to the lady who answered. "Your husband told me to press all of his clothes." In the hall he left his hat and two suit cases in which he packed the clothes. He never came back.

One of the most prosperous of the dancing and supper clubs makes solemn avowal that no intoxicating liquor has ever been sold on the premises. Good music and food well served are the sole attractions.

And a society journal reports two affairs where no liquor was served, the guests remaining until after two in the morning, apparently well pleased. It may be prohibition is going to click after all.

REMEMBER how you used to come in from play hungry as a bear? Bet you could hardly wait until Dad filled your plate! And didn't everything taste good? Seemed like you never would get enough. Didn't you feel good those days. Yes, they were the red blooded days.

Why isn't your appetite like that now? Why don't you like to eat just the same as you did in those days? Here's the reason—your system is simply starving for the lack of rich, red blood! You've lost your appetite because you've lost your red blood power. No red blood nourishment for the tissues of your body.

Build up your blood to where it is pure and red and rich and watch that appetite come back! S. S. S. is the way to do it! S. S. S. helps Nature build red blood-cells—builds them by the millions!

You'll get hungry and you'll enjoy eating when S. S. S. helps Nature build pure red cells in that weak blood of yours. And you'll look better—your skin will be clear and unblemished—your flesh will become firm and solid—strength and power will come to your flabby muscles—you'll be yourself again.

S. S. S. will bring back the joy of eating—the joy of living. It's done it for thousands for generations. It's going to do it for you, too. Get S. S. S. at your druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

EVE'S TWO LOVERS

By EDGAR POE NORRIS

TWENTY-SEVEN.

Miss Johnstone was called to the telephone while the members of John Ingate's party were having their ice. Three pairs of eyes watched her disappear inside, and it cannot be said that any pair was more fascinated than the others. For Miss Johnstone captured women's interest as surely as men's.

Jocelyn Johnstone was the name that Gertrude Greenhiltzer took when she entered the chorus of the "Stupidities of 1924." She was a saleswoman at Gimbel's New York, then, a blonde creature, fun-like, with perfect teeth and divining, mysterious smile. Not, however, until she had learned to walk (who has not noticed the superb carriage of the women in the shows put on by the producer of "Stupidities" of this year and that?) did she dress so that her very good point was emphasized and her bad ones shadowed, that she became the fascinating figure so well known in the New York night clubs until Reggie White had the bad judgment to decide upon a close friend of the commissioner of police as a blackmail prospect.

Miss Johnstone and Mr. White were laying low in Chicago now, after a season in Florida, which also had gotten too hot for them. It had not been difficult for Mr. White to insinuate himself into the Mohawk Country club.

"You'd better look out, John," Clay laughed "or you'll be on a honeymoon, too."

The host colored slightly as he smiled. He realized suddenly that his interest in Miss Johnstone must be rather apparent. He glanced at Eve. It was not difficult for him to discern the state of her feelings. She was married to Clay Wales, on her honeymoon, but she still loved him a little—a great deal perhaps. The thought gave him a sense of satisfaction. He hoped she was already a little sorry she had turned him down in favor of Clay.

Very interesting was the conversation Miss Johnstone was having inside the clubhouse, in a telephone booth. "John Ingate is the guy with the money. He's from Central City. He's a wholesale leather merchant. Dun's

No More Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, C. G. Anderson and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.

Clay followed her into the clubhouse, and Miss Johnstone and John Ingate were left alone.

"Well, it looks like Mister Ingate has found a lovely little playmate," said Clay, suggestively.

Eve managed a smile. "Yes a romance under our very eyes."

"I think we'd better do a fade out. You must get a headache or something."

"Yes, I think so, too," she replied, but not without a trace of sadness.

She idled through her dressing, taken up with her thoughts. She was ashamed of herself for feeling so badly over this. She had no claim upon him now, even if, despite herself, she did love him. She tried to get the pair out of her head, but couldn't. Yesterday it was Clay that Miss Johnstone had centered her attentions upon; today it was John. She was a flirt, that was all, a woman who wanted men to pay her attentions, the kind of woman who didn't care anything about any man. John Ingate would fall in love with her and get a broken heart for his pains. So she told herself.

Back in the lobby again, she stole with Clay to a window from which they could see John Ingate apparently very deeply interested in conversation with the violet-eyed one. "We'll go out the side way and slip down to the interurban," Eve whispered, her heart beating uncertainly.

Clay didn't care whether the pair saw them leave. In fact he was in a mind to take Eve's arm and lead her willingly or unwillingly, out by the front walk. He was exultant over this scene. Today's happenings, he thought, would banish any of Eve's old feeling for John Ingate. He was not a discerning man, and he didn't know the sort of thing that makes women indifferent, and what it is that makes them jealous and aggressive.

Does John Ingate become a victim of Miss Johnstone's wiles? What does Eve do to prevent it? See the next instalment of this story.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 83

"Purges" and "Physics" Bad for Old Folks

While Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, knew that constipation was the curse of advancing age, he did not believe that a "purge" or "physic" every little while was necessary.

To him, it seemed cruel that so many constipated old people had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

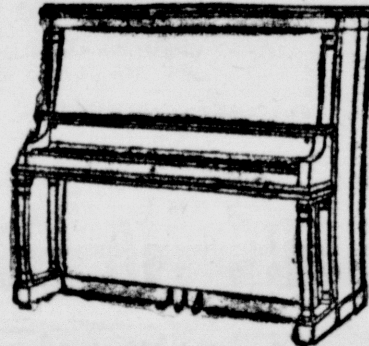

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to "regulate" the bowels of old folks. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but each dose helps to strengthen the

HIGHWAY BIDS TO BE OPENED

Lincoln Highway Near Clinton Listed for Improvement.

Bids for the improvement of that section of the Lincoln highway between the Hebron church near Clinton, Allegheny county and Harrisville, Beaver county, will be opened by the Pennsylvania state highway department at Harrisburg, Thursday afternoon.

The unimproved section between Laughlin's corners and Clinton will be graded and surfaced this summer. Bids for part of this road were opened at Harrisburg two weeks ago and the successful bidder is expected to begin work by the middle of April.

Road grading machinery and all materials to be used in the improvement are to be hauled from the rail head at Chester, and for this reason West Virginia has been asked to postpone the improvement of its part of the road between the state line and Chester until 1927.

RADIO COMFORTS FOR ERIE ISLANDERS MAROONED FROM LAND BY ICE FLOES

SANDUSKY — Between two and three thousand residents of the Lake Erie archipelago are confronted with isolation. The "ice bridge" that made travel between the islands and the mainland during the winter months possible has "gone out," having been broken and scattered by recent high winds. The broken, floating ice will not permit foot travel and prevents navigation.

Until the boats start running, and that may be several weeks, mail carriers must take their lives in their hands daily. Strong currents run and huge fields of broken ice threaten constantly.

In the old days when the mail man failed to arrive, the islanders were entirely cut off from the rest of the world. But today the radio keeps the islanders' period of pre-spring isolation endurable.

The islands temporarily segregated from the mainland are Put-In-Bay, Kelleys, Middle Bass, Green, and several others less settled on the American side, and Pelee on the Canadian side.

FLOOD DAMAGE MOUNTS AS OIL CITY, PA., ICE GORGE BREAKS

Big Bridge Washed Out After Street Car Passes.

RIVER RISING

No Serious Casualties Feared as People are Warned.

OIL CITY, Pa., March 22.—With the flood waters of the Allegheny river rising hourly as thousands of tons of ice frozen fast in the stream all winter broke loose, the flood toll continued to mount into thousands of dollars.

Street car service between Oil City and Franklin was suspended when the big rock bridge at Franklin was washed out just after a street car had passed over it. The second bridge to go out was the Reno span, just outside this city. It linked the city with Franklin road.

Trucks of the Pennsylvania railroad were ice-bound, but by working large crews continually railroad officials were able to continue traffic through the district.

No serious casualties were feared as the entire countryside had been warned weeks before of the impending flood when warm weather melted the ice loam from the river banks and bottom.

Industrial Plants Idle.—With every industrial plant in the city shut down by high water and bridges threatened by the huge ice flows, this city today was in the grip of the worst flood in its history.

More than 3,000 workers were idle and the postoffice, city hall, Y. M. C. A. and school houses were marooned by water backing up from Oil Creek, a tributary of the Allegheny river.

Ice movements in the Allegheny river, followed by jams that backed up the water, caused the flood. Water again overflowed the lowlands today.

Rail traffic continues only over the Pennsylvania lines, service on the Erie and New York Central lines having been suspended.

In Franklin the river mark was 20.7 feet and rising. This was nearly six feet above flood level.

With two spans of the Big Rock bridge carried away by the ice and swept half a mile down stream, traction service between Oil City and Franklin is suspended.

Prohibition Inquiry

ator La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin, may prove to be the surprise of the sixty-ninth congress, owing to a provision allowing for an investigation of the charges of New Jersey mill owners that communists excited the Passaic strike. Under this authority and at the insistence of Senator Edge, Republican, of New Jersey, the investigation may go thoroughly into the subject of Communist propaganda in the United States and its influence upon American labor. Edge charged the Communists were using the Passaic strike as a mask to preach "overthrow of the American government."

At La Follette's insistence, the inquiry also would go deeply into the subject of wages and living conditions in the textile industry. As comparisons undoubtedly would have to be drawn, this phase might easily lead the investigation clear through the structure of the nation's economic life.

The tariff investigation meanwhile will be a strict party affair, between Republicans and Democrats. A significant political aspect of this investigation will be the senate's instruction to learn whether President Coolidge or any other "high government official" has attempted to influence the decisions of the U. S. tariff commission.

The "wet and dry" fight will be carried out before a judiciary subcommittee at public hearings on proposals to modify the national prohibition law. There will be no party lines in this battle, but the wets hope to lay the basis for a national campaign for modification in 1928.

U. S. Elected Member Of League Board On Disarmament

GENEVA, March 22.—The United States, Russia, Germany and Japan have been elected members of a mixed commission to consider disarmament, by the league of nations council, it was announced today.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary of the league, has addressed a letter to the soviet government notifying them of their election to the mixed commission, although there is no assurance that Russia will attend the conference which has been summoned to meet May 18.

AUTOS DAMAGED IN COLLISION

Automobiles driven by H. R. Leeper and James Kline, both of this city, crashed at the intersection of Lisbon and West Eighth streets at 7:30 o'clock last night. No one was injured. Leeper's car which was badly damaged, was removed by the McElravy wrecker.

TODAY

THIS is the day's important news, destined, possibly, to revolutionize industry, including automobile making. Gunther Polich, a young engineer of Vienna, produces a current of electricity "direct from chemicals."

He believes that his invention will do away with dynamos, and says one pound of his chemical combination will do the work of a 12-pound storage battery. It sounds like releasing the power in the atom.

If he has found locked up in chemicals the light storage battery that Edison looked for, he has something worth while.

TO RELEASE power from chemicals, or take it direct from the sun, would enrich this earth beyond men's dreams, and cut the day's work to one hour.

Just now, that might spoil the human race, not yet fit to be released from necessity's sharp lash.

THIS is certain. We are just beginning the age of electricity, as our ancestors were beginning the steam age after the battle of Waterloo. And what steam did, increasing human efficiency and wealth, will seem as nothing compared with the work that electricity will do.

If European nations would stop hating and fighting each other and concentrate on development of electric power, they could pay for their bloody and brutal war quickly—and probably be ready for another.

A BLACK prize fighter, Tiger Flowers, of Georgia, recently took the championship of his class away from Greb, a white fighter, and has gone back to the Georgia pulpit in which he occasionally preaches.

Most interesting is the black fighter's statement that while he fought the white man he repeated to himself the first verse of his favorite psalm. "Blessed be the Lord my strength, which teacheth my hand to war, and my fingers to fight."

Mr. Greb might almost claim a "foul" on that. The rules say that a fighter must have no outside assistance except between rounds.

THE Abbe Bacle, parish priest in a small French village, has invented a machine to plant cabbages. A boon to market gardeners, a mechanical hand plants the seedlings more perfectly than the human hand, rapidly, with perfect regularity.

Farmers will be interested in that. Also in the fact that you can keep cows off railroad tracks, prevent their going through fence openings, simply by laying a few old lengths of iron pipe raised an inch or two inches above the ground across the space that you do not want the cows to pass over. Mrs. Cow puts her foot on the round pipe, does not like it and turns back. This "cow rebuff" is used generally in California.

VICE PRESIDENT DAWES has a sense of humor back of his pipe. When he wanted to hurry the business of the senate he was told: "You must follow the senate rules."

Now he makes the senators follow their own rules, including a rule that compels them to face the speaker and pay attention to him when questioning or addressing each other. That they don't like quite so well.

OLLIE HARVEY HOME RAIDED

Assessed $100 on Liquor Charge; Two Others Fined.

OLLIE HARVEY, colored, was fined $100 and costs by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley this morning, when he pleaded guilty of illegally possessing intoxicating liquors.

Harvey was arrested when Captain Conley, Patrolmen Roth and McFarland raided his home in West Second street at 6:30 o'clock last evening. One hundred and twenty bottles of home brew were confiscated. Police say that they found three men in the cellar of the house bottling the liquor, while two prospective customers appeared at the residence before they left.

Harvey was released over night after he deposited a cash bond of $100.

Harvey Twyford was fined $25 and costs for carrying concealed weapons. Patrolman Norman McFarland found a pair of knucklers in his pockets when he took him into custody.

Clem Dawson, who was arrested by Patrolman McFarland for breaking a bottle on the street, was fined $10 and costs.

INFANTS' BODIES FOUND IN HOUSE

CHERRY RUN, W. Va., March 22.—The gruesome discovery of the dead bodies of three infants in the attic of an unoccupied house, and the body of a fourth child in a rubbish pile outside the dwelling, stirred Morgan county authorities to an investigation today which they believe may lead to the uncovering of a "baby farm" and several arrests for murder.

The bodies were of infants from two weeks to two months old. They apparently had not been dead more than two weeks.

The house had not been occupied for several months. Its last occupant was John W. Robe, a Baltimore and Ohio engineer.

Chinese Cabinet Members Resign, London is Advised

LONDON, March 22.—The Chinese cabinet has resigned, according to a message to the foreign office, confirming dispatches to this effect received Saturday.

DAPPER "CANDY KID" IS NEAR END OF TRAIL

Whittemore and Gang Suspected of Six Murders.

EIGHT ARRESTED

Daring Hold-ups Netted Nearly Half Million, Police Say.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Richard R. Whittemore, the dapper "Candy Kid" bandit and murder suspect, and his "night club gang," have reached the end of the trail.

Evidence against them is growing steadily and today they are suspected of not less than six murders.

Three states—New York, New Jersey and Maryland—are expected to bid for the privilege of hanging Whittemore and most of the members of his gang. This daring and ruthless organization is believed to be pretty well rounded up. Seven men and a woman, Whittemore's "Candy Kid," are under arrest and held without bail.

The police, after grilling for hours Anthony Paladino, latest member of the "Candy Kid" gang to be arrested, announced that Paladino had confessed to participation in 24 holdups.

Paladino has been identified in four of the numerous jewel robberies in which the gang is implicated and, according to police, has admitted taking part in all of the gang's major "jobs."

The eight members of the gang were to be arraigned during the day, with the probability that they will be indicted.

The daring holdups of the gang are believed to have netted them nearly half a million dollars.

Their capture was one of the big police achievements in years. In New York, the gang made a specialty of big jewelry robberies and they squandered big sums of money in the gilded night clubs of Broadway.

Pile Up Evidence.

Strong evidence linking Whittemore and his companions to the $93,000 holdup of a Buffalo, N. Y., federal bank armored car in which two guards were killed, has been found, according to the police.

In addition, Whittemore is wanted in Baltimore for murdering a guard in escaping from the Maryland penitentiary there.

Three members of Whittemore's gang were found murdered soon after the escape from jail, and members of the gang are suspected of the killings.

One body was found against the wall of Trinity Church graveyard in downtown New York. The other two were found in different parts of New Jersey.

The man whose body was found beside the graveyard was Simon Gilden, whose wife gave 69 Mott street as her address when she obtained the license for the automobile which her husband drove here from Baltimore with Whittemore after the latter's escape from jail. This car was later found abandoned and riddled with bullets.

None of Loot Recovered.

The two whose bodies were found in New Jersey were "Chicago Tommy" Langrella and "Spikie" Kenny, both killed soon after the Baltimore crime.

Night clubs are being searched for other members of the gang. Somewhere the desperadoes are said to have a secret cache of $30,000 for a "defense fund," to be used in case of arrest.

None of the loot from numerous robberies, totaling nearly $500,000, has been recovered.

All the prisoners are under heavy guard.

Margaret Collins, the pretty young wife of the "Candy Kid," is charged with violating the Sullivan law following the discovery of loaded revolvers in baggage for which she had checks.

Extradition efforts already are under way. Governor Ritchie of Maryland has forwarded extradition papers to Gov. Smith of New York, who, as yet, has taken no action.

Upset, Woman Says, By Conductor's Loud Language; Sues

CLEVELAND, Mar. 22.—Declaring she suffered mental pain and humiliation which caused a nervous condition because a Pennsylvania Railroad conductor used loud and boisterous language to her, Sadie Henkin, Youngstown, brought suit against the railroad in federal court here today.

In her petition, which seeks $10,000 damages, she alleged she bought an excursion ticket for Columbus and returned January 21, and that the conductor declared the ticket invalid. She also charged she was arrested and held one hour in Columbus.

The suit was originally filed in Mahoning county common pleas court, and was transferred by the defendant.

Franc at Low Ebb; Paris Opens Fight For Stabilization

PARIS, March 22.—With the franc at low ebb, France re-started the battle for financial stabilization today.

Finance Minister Peret laid his proposed financial project before the cabinet and it was unanimously approved. The financial project will go to the chamber of deputies this afternoon.

The new attempt to balance the budget opens the way for patriotic action by wealthy Frenchmen to come to the aid of the nation, for the Peret project authorizes the government to accept all voluntary contributions for the amortization of short term debts.

DEATH ROLL.

Mrs. Grace Dewees, 28 years old, died yesterday at her home in Chester. She is survived by her husband and two children. Funeral services will be held in the home at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be made in Locust Hill cemetery.

Jesse M. Laughlin, formerly of Georgetown, died Saturday afternoon at his home in Smith's Ferry, Pa.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Clara Laughlin, one son and one daughter, Simpson T., at home, and Mrs. George Simpson, Chester, two brothers, Wm. H. Georgetown, and S. S. Laughlin, Beaver, and one sister, Mrs. C. L. Dawson, St. Petersburg, Fla.

He was a member of the Glasgow Presbyterian church.

Funeral services will be Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Georgetown Methodist Episcopal church, in charge of Rev. J. I. Gregory. Burial will be made in Georgetown cemetery.

DEATH CHEATS PENITENTIARY

Ray J. Udall Dies After Leaping From Train.

COLUMBUS, March 22.—Death cheated the federal penitentiary at Atlanta when Ray J. Udall, 39, died here today following a leap from the train that was bearing him back to the prison from which he was paroled.

AKRON, March 22.—Ray Udall, 22, Youngstown, who died in Columbus today, jumped from a Pennsylvania train going 60 miles an hour Sunday night to escape from a federal parole officer who was taking him from the Summit county jail to the Atlanta prison.

Udall, accompanied by an Atlanta prison guard, was being returned to Atlanta from Akron. He originally was sentenced from Youngstown, where he was convicted of robbing a sub-postoffice station.

The train was going at high speed when Udall raised from his berth and leaped through the window. The train stopped at once and the prisoner was taken to a hospital here.

He died a short time later.

Despite the shackles he made his way to the platform, opened the door and dropped off. The train was stopped and Udall was found semi-conscious and unable to move.

Two Men Killed, Two Injured When Truck Overturns

TOLEDO, March 22.—John Campbell and Leonard Krause were dead today and Lon Moore and Vernon Marquh, their companions, recovering from minor injuries as the result of a repair truck of Defiance division of the Toledo-Edison company overturning on the White House road, 24 miles south of Toledo, Sunday.

Campbell and Krause were drowned when the truck pinned them under four feet of water in a ditch.

The repair crew was working on the lines between Defiance and Toledo when Moore, who was driving, lost control of the truck. The back wheels slipped off the road, overturning the machine in the ditch.

Two Hurt as Auto Hits Pole; Two Lads Asleep in Car

ELYRIA, March 22.—Irwin Bessinger, 21, and Harvey Lewis, 18, both of Lorain were in Memorial hospital here today as the result of an accident on Lake avenue, a mile north of here.

MUSCLE SHOALS LEASING TOPIC AT CONFERENCE

Congressional Committee Meets With Construction Expert.

FORD MAY BID

Major General Beach Engaged as Technical Adviser.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The congressional Muscle Shoals committee entered actual negotiations for the leasing of the government's $15,000,000 project today when it met with F. T. Hepburn, a New York construction expert, to discuss the terms under which the property can be leased.

Hepburn was the first potential bidder to be heard by the committee. All other individuals or corporations interested in leasing the shoals project will be given hearings, however, before any attempt is made to finally negotiate a lease.

As the terms, under instructions from congress, must be as good or better than those contained in the original Henry Ford offer, members of the committee are hopeful that the Detroit manufacturer will renew his offer in a revised form. A general sentiment exists in congressional circles, favoring a lease of the property, and that it should be turned over to Ford if the auto king will meet the terms laid down by congress.

The committee has decided to engage Maj. Gen. Lincoln Beach, retired, former chief of army engineer, to act as its technical adviser in negotiating a lease. Beach will advise the committee on all technical matters. His knowledge of the Muscle Shoals project is extensive, as he was in charge of the construction work during the latter days of his term as chief of army engineers.

STARS IN CAST OF OPERETTA

"Student Prince" at Ceramic Wednesday and Thursday.

Dorothy Donnelly and Sigmund Romberg who wrote book and lyrics and the melodies, respectively of "The Student Prince" which will be at the Ceramic for a two-day engagement beginning Wednesday, declare that in this production they have done the best work of their careers.

Miss Donnelly and Mr. Romberg, before the success of "The Student Prince," already had the smashing hit of "Blossom Time" to their credit.

"The Student Prince" carries a singing cast of 108 voices which includes a student male chorus of 60 many young fellows and twenty lovely young women. All members of the cast and chorus were recruited from the music studios and conservatories of New York and the eastern cities and J. J. Shubert, under whose personal direction the play was produced, declares that in all his experience in show business, he never succeeded in obtaining so many and such remarkable voices as he has for "The Student Prince."

The original company of "The Student Prince" is now in its second season in New York. Local playgoers, however, need have no fears that they will see a second rate company. The one that will be seen here comes directly from the big cities of the east and Messrs. Shubert are positive in their assurance that in every respect it is the equal of the New York company. In the cast to be seen here are such well known players and singers as Hunter Kimball, Joceta Howe, Carl Formes, Kathryn Milley, Richard Temple, Frederick Goodrow, Jessie MacDonald, Juliette Bizat, Florence Somerville, Lillian Tongue, Burton Douglas, LeRoy Duffield, George W. Williams, Richard Searle, Edith Marlon, Anna Lundstrom and many others of equal note.

Reese, the Jeweler

Following five years as jeweler in East Liverpool during which his business has steadily and constantly increased to its present growing dimensions James J. Reese, who for two decades was a journeyman turner in local and other city potteries, has just removed into one of the most inviting rooms in the Little Building on the Diamond where, with a greatly augmented stock of silverware, diamonds, watches, jewelry and greeting cards he is attracting special attention to himself as an outstanding member of that coterie of forward-looking Pottery City men of commercial affairs who, sure of their qualifications as specialists in their own lines of activity, are reaching out to meet the coming demands of a newer and better day.

Starting out under most modest circumstances in a small room in the Ridinger building on Dresden avenue, in May of 1921, Mr. Reese, following the completion of eighteen months of a thorough course in the Bradley Horological Institute in Peoria, Ill., in which in turn he became adept in watch making, engraving and jewelry work he won by sheer merit, persistent attention to his patrons' wants and rare courtesy to all and sundry, attracted to himself a wide clientele which demanded for him a larger and closer meeting place with the public. Hence, his occupancy of his present attractive quarters in which his goods are displayed to remarkable advantage and those examining them can do so with a maximum of personal comfort.

The appointments of his new room stand out. They include mahogany wall cases, in which the bottom spaces are inverted upwards at the further end so as to meet the patrons' eyes naturally and a new tile floor that merges into the color scheme of the plush blue stands on which the various articles for sale are held for display.

Decorated and cut glass pieces embellish the standard jewelry, silverware and diamonds shown. In all there are on hand a full and widely assorted stock.

Though careful to maintain all and everything needful in his line of service Mr. Reese will specialize particularly in diamonds. His offerings of this beautiful stone contain and always shall only the good. In all of his largely assorted articles shown the hallmark of quality is ever apparent. Supplementing his stock of jewelry and to which he proposes to give special attention is his fine selection of greeting cards. These are of the superior kind that can be utilized on birthdays, holidays, Mother's and Father's days, and all other occasions during which a delicate and personal reminder may be wished sent to those near and dear.

As always during his early jewelry career Mr. Reese has established his repair case in the eastern front of his new business room where he will continue to right watches and other articles of jewelry that from time to time may need attention.

Before entering the Peoria Institute for a jewelry course Mr. Reese worked for seven years as a turner at Plant No. 4 of the Homer Laughlin China Co., at Newell, W. Va. He was also for a period an employee in a similar capacity at the K. T. & K. pottery in East Liverpool. He also was employed in turn in potteries at Sebring, Barberton and Wells-ville, Ohio, and Huntington, W. Va. He served his apprenticeship in the old Chelsea plant at New Cumberland, W. Va.

Notwithstanding his capability as a potter his ambition and personal taste led him to become a jeweler. His tendency in this direction was quickly shown when during his student days at Peoria he won on one of Washington's birthdays while there the prize in an engraving competition of the words "George Washington."

On the broad platform of fidelity to his customers' interests, knowledge of and capability in any repairs demanded, rapidity of service and quality of goods maintained for sale Mr. Reese proposes to function in the wider zone of activity that is now his following his utilization of his new, attractively located quarters which to him and his past and future patrons is a move that can only be regarded as epochal to all concerned.

Garfield Girls, Central A Boys Grade School Cage Champs

Fourth Street Quint Cops Tourney Honors Second Straight Year

WILL PLAY FOR JUNIOR COURT TITLE TONIGHT

Defeat Smaller McKinley Lads in Final Saturday Night at High School, 44 to 12; Will Keep Tournament Trophy; Strong East End Sextet is Given Stiff Battle by Neville Lassies; Score is 16-9.

Repeating their last year grade school tournament triumph, Central A passers took down the laurels of the boys' division when they almost massacred the McKinley lads in the final Saturday night, winning by the score of 44 to 12.

The Garfield lassies won the honors in the girls' division when they sent the Neville girls down to defeat by the score of 16 to 9.

By winning Saturday night's game the Central school will keep the tournament trophy, and the names of the players that won basketball honors for two seasons will be engraved upon it.

Central A passers won the right to meet McKinley in the finals when they put Sixth Street A out of the running, Saturday afternoon, scoring a victory by a count of 24 to 10.

Saturday night games were witnessed by one of the biggest crowds that ever saw basketball played on the high school floor. Long before Referee Reid threw up the ball to start the girls' contest the "standing room only" sign was hung out. All the loyal supporters of the teams were on hand to cheer their favorites to victory.

Girls Stage Real Contest.
Of Saturday night's games only the girls' contest resembled a real basketball battle, and there was a whole lot more interest taken in the girls' tilt than there was in the boys' battle. It was a foregone conclusion that Central A would win from McKinley in the boys' game and the only interest taken by the crowd was how badly the larger and more experienced Central A passers would defeat the smaller McKinley lads.

At 7:30 Referee Reid threw up the ball starting the girls' contest. It was the first time in city basketball history that two East End teams battled for basketball honors.

The girls' game was fast and interesting all the way, the Garfield girls have much of the edge over their Neville rivals in the earlier periods, while the Neville girls outscored their opponents in the final periods.

Garfield led in the first quarter by the score of 5 to 3. In the second period the Garfield girls went out and practically won the old basketball battle, finding the basket for eight tallies while the best the Neville lassies could do was to score one, the score standing 13 to 4 at the end of the half.

Both teams scored the same number of points in the third period, each caging the ball for three, the count being 15 to 7 in the Garfield girls favor when the period was over, in the final quarter the Neville girls held their rivals scoreless while they added two more points to their tally, but the lead that Garfield gained in the second period was too much to overcome and the Garfield girls left the floor as basketball champions of the grade schools.

All the girls of both teams that played in Saturday night's game performed in a clever manner at their positions. Goodball and Grumet starting in the scoring for Garfield, while Finney excelled a similar role for Neville.

Central Has Easy Sailing.
There was nothing to it but Central A in the boys' contest, the small McKinley lads offering little or no opposition to the Central school boys. The Central A bunch began to score right off the reel and the game became a procession of field goals. Central ran up 18 points in the first quarter while their opponents failed to tally, the count standing 18 to 0 at the end of the period. In the second, the McKinley lads played their best basketball and they outscored their rivals, making eight points to Central's five, the score being 23 to 8 at the end of the half.

The final periods were similar to the earlier ones, the Central lads rolling up a score of 38 to 10 at the end of the third period. In the final period the Fourth Street school passers found the basket for six more points while the McKinley lads scored two.

All the Centrals put up a good article of basketball, Hall, Dearth and Carmen doing all the scoring. Ashbaugh, Heddleston and Miller were the leading performers for McKinley.

In the semi-final Saturday afternoon between Central A and Sixth Street A the Fourth Street lads outclassed their Sixth Street rivals. The Central passers led in the first half, 7 to 3. In the second half they continued to outplay their opponents, adding seventeen more tallies while their rivals made seven.

Hall, Dearth and Alther were the chief Central A performers, while McConnell, Blackburn, and Galbert did the leading playing for Sixth Street.

How to Improve Your Golf By WALTER HAGEN

Master Player Advises Dubs, in Interview

By NORMAN E. BROWN.
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22.—"Nine holes of golf and the same amount of time spent in practice is better than 18 holes of golf for the average golfer."

This is the opinion of Walter Hagen. And it isn't stretching things a bit to suggest that Hagen ought to know something about the game. He's its greatest master.

"The average fellow who takes up golf feels that practice alone will make him a good golfer. This is true in a way. But it must be practice along the proper lines—practice involving proper form, stance, stroke, follow through and every other angle of the game. He cannot learn the game by plugging along blindly day after day in the belief that he plays enough he will acquire all of those things."

"Proper instruction at an early moment is the most vital necessity. Then comes the need for practice. The average golfer, however, wants some pleasure with his practice. He can have both if he devotes half of his playing time to play and half to really learning how to handle his clubs. Let him play nine holes. Then spend an equal amount of time with one or two of his clubs practicing various shots."

"Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the value of putting and yet the average golfer would rather practice driving. It is more thrilling. You get a kick out of seeing the ball cut into the air and travel down the fairway. But most golfers are lost when they get on the green. A half hour session two or three times a week on the putting green will soon show results."

Hagen proved the value of putting in his match with Bobby Jones. The latter was having hard luck with his putts, it is true. The ball seemed bewitched. But Hagen was dropping them with a deadly precision that challenged any jinx or hoodoo.

One of the prettiest putts of the match, however, was sunk by Jones. The shot was made on the last green of the morning round. Jones had missed putts on the two preceding greens when he could have won each hole by sinking his first effort.

His second shot to the eighteenth put him on the green above the hole on the slope and about 18 feet from the cup. It was a difficult lie. One had to judge the "curve" of the ball on the rolling sod.

Jones studied the shot carefully and then played it boldly. Perhaps the failure of his carefully laid putts on the preceding holes prompted the boldness. At any rate the ball went sharply down the grade, curved slightly as it neared the cup and rolled in. The gallery gave the Atlanta lad a warm ovation. Jones, meanwhile, looked rather dazed. It seemed impossible that the ball had gone in. And while Hagen visited with a few friends a moment on the green Jones tried a few more putts, feeling that he had hit his stride again.

He had. Finishing the morning round four holes down he played Hagen even on the seven holes played in the afternoon to complete the match. And his putting aided him in those last holes.

ZANESVILLE OHIO'S BEST

Defeat Akron East, 40-27, in Tournament Final.

Zanesville won the Class A scholastic basketball championship of the state Saturday night at the Coliseum, Columbus, defeating Akron East, 40 to 27.

Oberlin was victor in the Class B division, conquering Miamisburg, 32 to 13.

Zanesville easily stands out as one of the finest championship teams in recent years, if a comparison of scores means anything.

In their last three games, the eastern Ohio representatives scored 40 or more points on each occasion, their rivals falling even to come close.

East Liverpool high, clashing the then future champions in the first game of the eastern Ohio sectional tournament, held Zanesville to a 37-22 tally. That score at the time looked decisive enough, but it developed that it was not quite as bad a licking as some of the other contenders took.

From the standpoint of point making, Dover gave the champions their hardest tilt of the tourney. In eliminating Dover to win the sectional honors, Zanesville obtained a 30 to 20 verdict.

BOWLING

Approximately 30 East Liverpool bowlers will attack the timer at the Liberty alleys this week in Fleming's annual handicap ducks tournament.

Bowling will get under way tonight. Singles will be shot tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday, and the doubles on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

To be eligible for the doubles contestants will be required to post their entry fees and bowl singles before closing time Wednesday night.

WHITE IS VICTOR IN POOL MATCH

R. L. White defeated Johnny Gill, 75 to 67, in the sixth game of the pocket billiard tournament at the Diamond parlors.

Edward Remy and "Lefty" Herbert are scheduled to take the floor next in the seventh engagement on Tuesday night.

PIRATE ROOKIES GET CASH GIFTS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Paul Waner, new Pirate outfielder, was presented $2,500 by the San Francisco owners yesterday afternoon. The Oklahoma boy was sold to the Pirates last winter for approximately $65,000, and he seems to be satisfied with his personal remuneration. Hal Rhyme is said to have received a similar split.

YANKS BATTLE REDS TOMORROW

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22.—The Yankees were ready to resume intensive practice today after a day of well earned rest. Tomorrow they are to take on the Cincinnati Reds, featuring two former Yanks, Wally Pipp and Carl Mays. Miller Huggins today expressed himself as well satisfied with the development of his club.

Sultans, Omars Clash In Tournament Final

Buckeyes, Strong Favorites, and Hilltops are Turned Back in Closely Contested Semi-finals Saturday.

VICTORIOUS in semi-finals Saturday afternoon on the Y. M. C. A. court, the Sultans and Omars will battle for city junior basketball honors in the tournament final tonight at 8 o'clock. The Sultans pulled the biggest surprise of the tourney when they turned back the Buckeyes, pre-tourney favorites, by a score of 28 to 24. The Omars, eliminated the Hilltops, 27 to 24.

The Sultans practically won their game from the foul line, chalking up 10 points on free throws against four for their rivals.

The Buckeyes led by a 15-12 count at the half. The game was closely fought to the end, the Sultans winning in the final period. Floor, P. Cooper, Nease and Crawford played leading parts in the victory. Wildblood, Felt, Skidmore and McConville were the chief performers for the losers.

The Hilltops led the Omars until the final five minutes when the Omars put on a garrison finish to win. The Hilltop passers held a 16 to 7 advantage at the half but lost some of this in the third period which closed with the count at 19-14. At the outset of the final canto, the Hilltops added three more and it looked then like a triumph. At this juncture, however, Bailey, Horwell and Penabaker began to find the basket from all angles of the floor and they finally tied up the count at 22 all. Penabaker made it 24 to 22 for the Omars with a field goal and another point was chalked up on a foul toss. Greenwood, of the Hilltops, dropped one in from the side, making the score 25-24. With only a few seconds to go, Penabaker registered the final basket.

Bailey, Horwell and Penabaker were the Omar stars. Wucher, Dyke and Greenwood were the principal performers for the Hilltops.

EAST-WEST PUCK TEAMS TO CLASH

NEW YORK, March 22.—New York and Portland, known respectively as the Americans and the Rosebuds, will meet tonight in the first of a three-game hockey series at Madison Square Garden. The match will be played under eastern rules. The local team will be without the services of Red Green and Cleghorn, who are out with injuries.

HOPPE, SCHAEFER POST FORFEITS

NEW YORK, March 22.—White Hoppe, champion, and Jake Schaefer, challenger, were expected to post forfeits today for their match for the 18.1 balk line billiard title. The site of the match also was to be decided, with New York favored. Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago are said to have entered bids also. According to present arrangements, it will begin either March 29 or the following Monday.

MORGAN TO RISK JUNIOR CROWN

NEW YORK, March 22.—Announcement was made today that Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, and Joe Glick, local contender, will meet for the title at Madison Square Garden on May 7. Glick previously had signed for the match and the Coast Boxer agreed to terms yesterday. It was said, through his eastern representative, Billy Miller. The champion's manager, Frank Churchill, is in the Philippines.

TERRY DEMANDS NEW CONTRACT

SARASOTA, Fla., March 22.—With considerable mystery surrounding the appearance here of William J. Burns, famous detective, the Glants made ready for their final week in camp today, before breaking for the north. Bill Terry, the only absentee, has broken his silence by demanding a two-year contract. McGraw passed the request along to President Stonham without comment.

CHRISTIANS, M. E. WIN GAMES

Decisive scores were the rule Saturday night in Sunday school league contests at the Y. M. C. A., the Christians topping the Baptists, 45 to 29, and the Methodists downing the Lutherans, 68 to 26.

The Christians played a major portion of the game with one or two mainstays missing, while a number of the Lutheran regulars were also absent. The Christians and the Methodists, however, were in rare form and played good basketball from start to finish.

Two games are scheduled for tomorrow night. Penn. Avenue and Methodist Protestant fives will tangle on the M. E. court at 7 o'clock, and the United Presbyterians and Methodists will play on the M. P. floor.

Louisville Lads Catholic Champs

CHICAGO, March 22.—Five husky youths from St. Xavier college high of Louisville, Ky., are the Catholic prep-school's basketball champions of the United States. They won the title last night by defeating Aquinas institute, of Rochester, N. Y., in the finals of the national interscholastic tournament at Loyola university.

The score was 18 to 16. But that result doesn't begin to tell the closeness of the struggle. The "Little Colonels," outweighed nearly 10 pounds to the man, fought against seemingly hopeless odds throughout the first three quarters of the game.

Trailing 16 to 13 at the start of the final period, Louisville staged a surprising rally. Hendricks led by sinking a free throw and quickly followed with a lightning-like double pass to Smith. The latter looped a short shot and tied the count at 16 all.

With only one minute to play, Smith threw a field goal that gave Louisville the margin of victory and the championship.

STECHER TACKLES DICK DAVISCOURT

NEW YORK, March 22.—Joe Stecher, the much-harrassed wrestling champion, will defend his title tonight against Dick Daviscourt in a finish match under the auspices of Jack Curley. Stecher, whose claims to the world's title are disputed in several sectors, left the ring in Boston last week without lifting his hands because he declared the promoter switched opponents on him and neglected to pay him his guarantee.

Daviscourt, a far more dangerous opponent than the Boston man, got an even break with Stecher last summer when the time limit in effect here, prevented the bout from going to a draw each had scored a fall.
